I remember

The times we've spent,

And the things we've done.

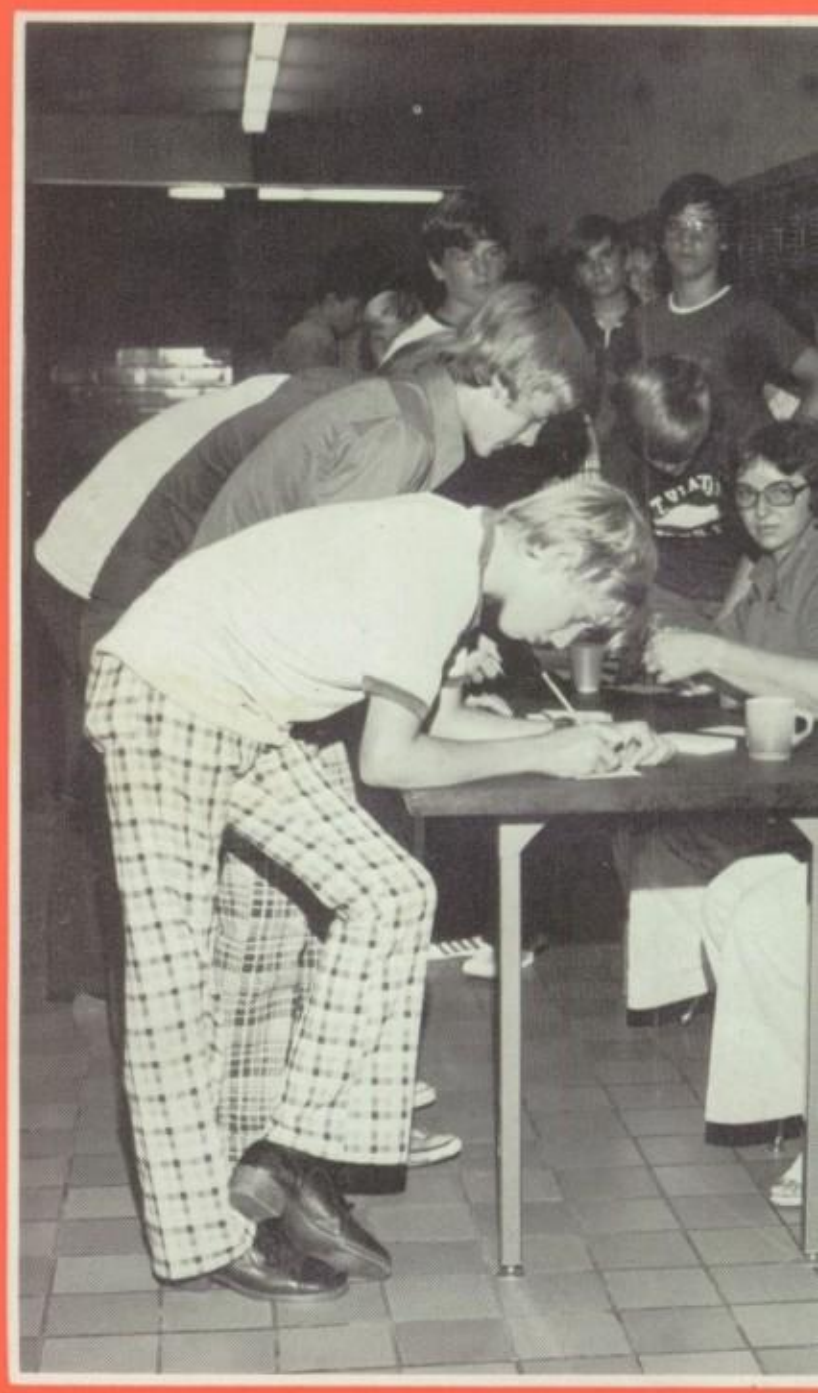
They've meant a lot to me.

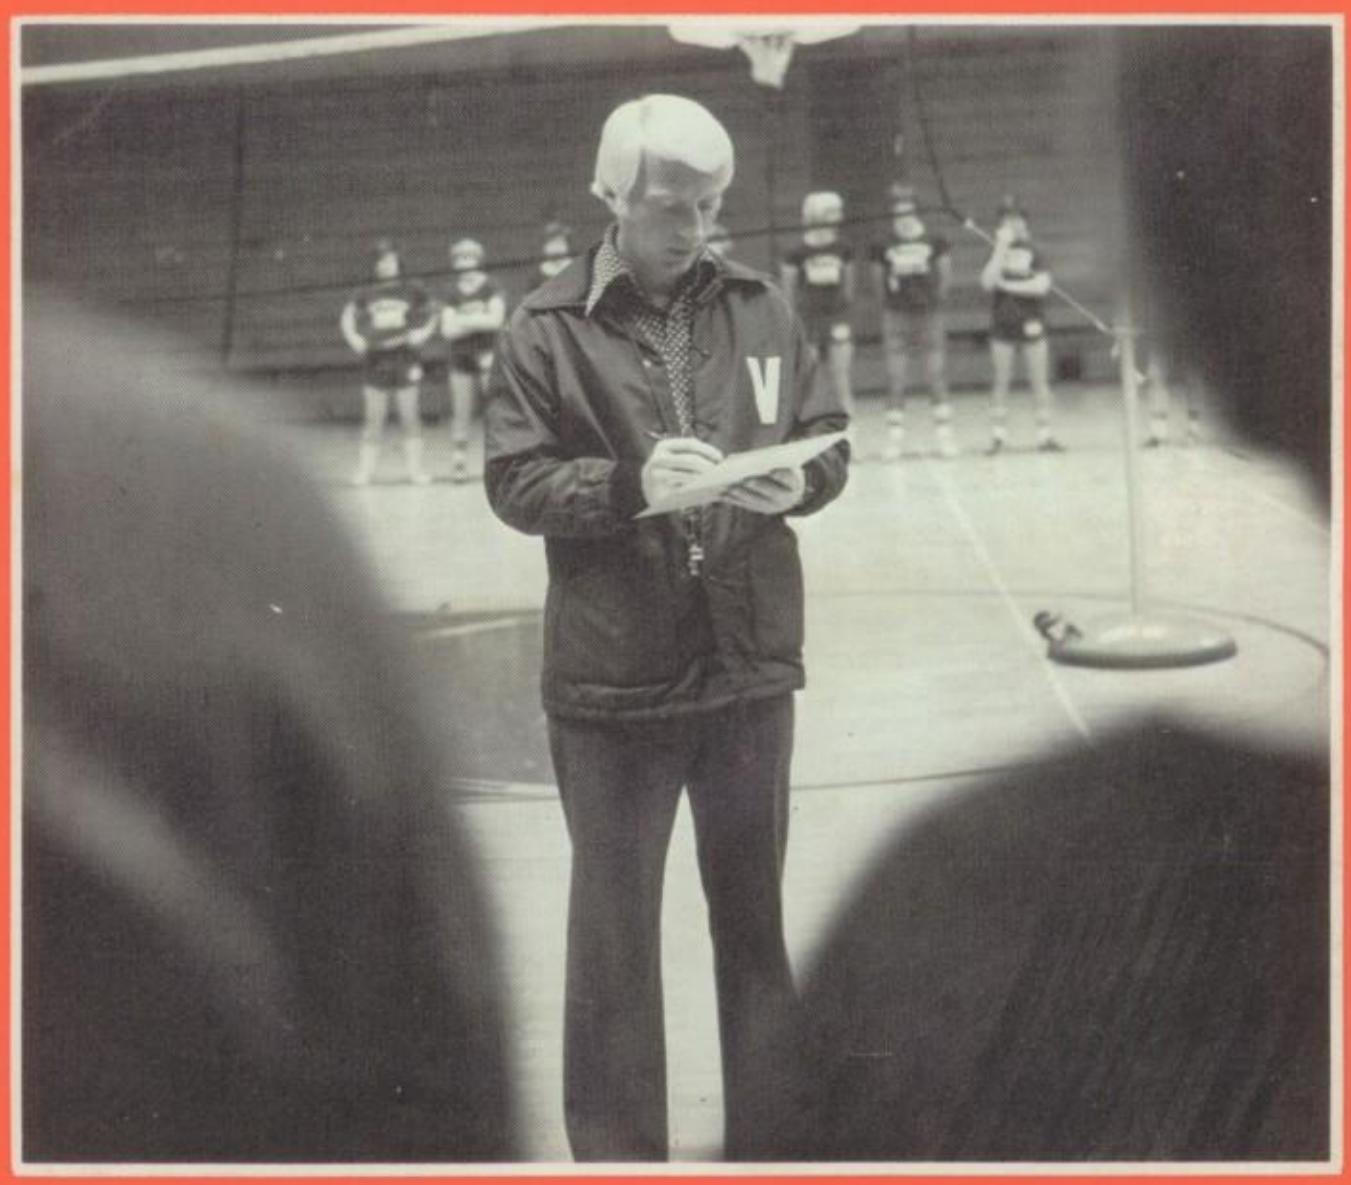
We've laughed, we've cried,

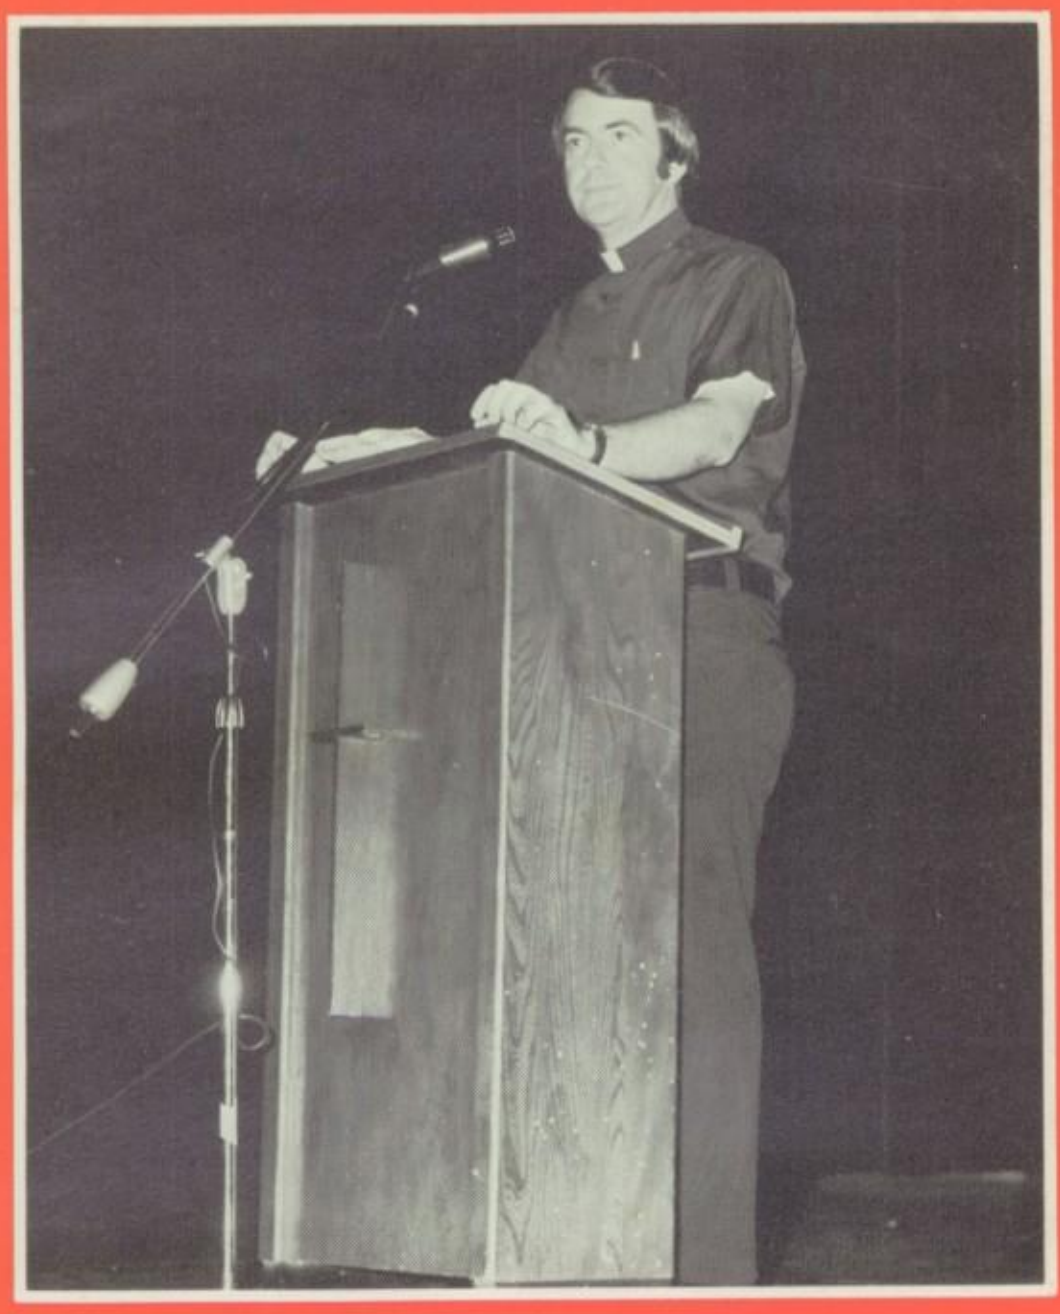
We've learned, we've loved.

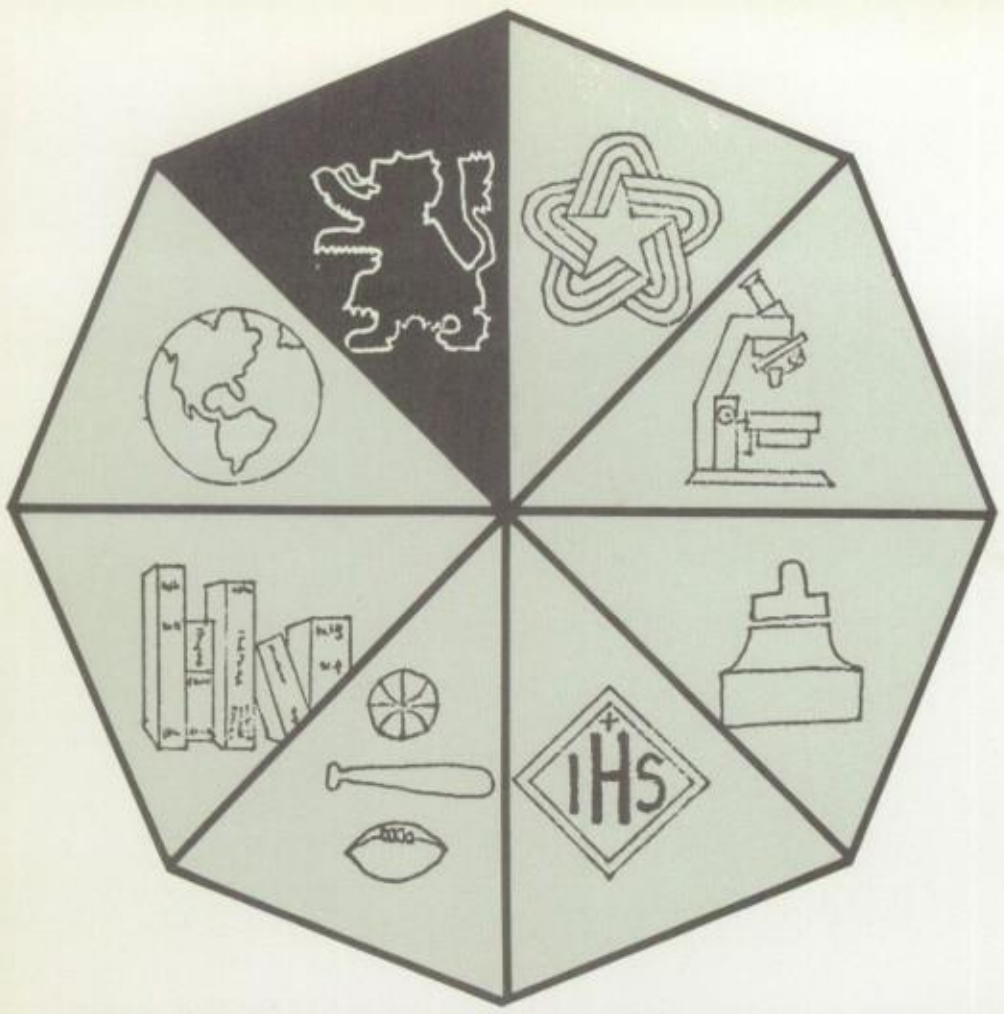
But most of all -

We've lived.









Memories

But there never seems
To be enough time
To do the things
You want to do
Once you find them. J.C.

Success

Fellow Graduates, Parents, and Members of the faculty,

We made it! This is culmination of four years of work and play. Throughout those years we have witnessed and experienced many good acts committed by others and ourselves for the benefit of others. At the same time though we have also witnessed and experienced many, many petty injustices committed by ourselves and others to the detriment of others and sometimes even ourselves. Speaking idealistically, we will somehow solve all these problems in the future. But speaking realistically and somewhat regrettably, we will most likely continue to see and feel the same mis-actions and thoughts throughout life.

But something remains hidden behind these obvious facts and the pageantry of this ceremony. It is the basic underlying fact that every person in this room has succeeded. It is a success defined not in material terms, but a success of learning and growth. The very fact that we have formed ideals, set goals, conformed, and rebelled indicates that we have learned, and subsequently grown. The formation of our individual moral conscience supercedes by far in importance all the so-called "subjects" presented to us while here at St. Viator. All of us here have formed our own opinions and most of us will continue to do so. St. Viator was the medium by which these processes occurred. But in the end it was our own choice of what to accept or reject. We have succeeded even against the oppressiveness of an all-male atmosphere. We have also succeeded so with the assistance of an excellent education, based on alternative education. The program system itself helped us to make decisions. Later, the decision making process will become an even more integral part of our future.

The whole learning process though is an evolutionary process. It will probably move at a slow snail like pace for most of us. We will accumulate knowledge and utilize that which we desire. Thereupon we will carve ourselves a niche in society. We will do this assimilating into it passively (conforming), working through society to reform it, or by rejecting society altogether. Most likely we will probably do a bit of each of these. For in today's world the aura of absolutes has faded. Every individual is different and, therefore, so is every situation involving that individual. The inevitable question follows, "Can one color anything entirely black or white anymore?"

In the final result, the class of '76 has the eyes of a bicentennial nation, an administration and faculty reviewing the program system, parents, and others focused on it. But the most important eyes focused on it should be our very own; always realizing our true potential and limitations. If this is done, it then follows that we will continue to learn, progress, and succeed. But our achievements may not appear to be achievements in the eyes of society and others which sometimes value material success on par, or even above, individual emotional growth. But as long as we believe we have succeeded, we have.

One final self-realization is needed for a truly promising life. It is the fact that to attain a goal is great but in the attempt lies the true success. For trying to progress and advance is in itself, progress. Regression in our lives, can be progress if it is recognized and measures are done to correct it. If we understand this, we are showing an awareness of situations as they are and also how they change. Hopefully, we have seen that self-realization is important to our future success. For only after self-realization can we interact truthfully with others, form true friendships, and find hopefully the highest emotion, that of love. Then as long as we live by our own individual principles we will find our meaning in and of life. But will we? Who Knows? But one thing is certain; by trying we will succeed!

Thank-you
Eugene L. Grabinski, Jr.

Program One

What began four years ago as an experiment in modern education has now matured into one of the most unique educational systems in America. After a series of early problems, Brother Lawrence Lentz became chairman of the School of Social Studies and rearranged the courses around a central theme. Themes like "Man and Prophesy" and "The American Dream" have allowed a gifted group of core teachers to teach courses ranging from rock music to Utopian society.

In its short four year existence Program One has provided young men at Viator the opportunity to fully understand what man and his society are all about.

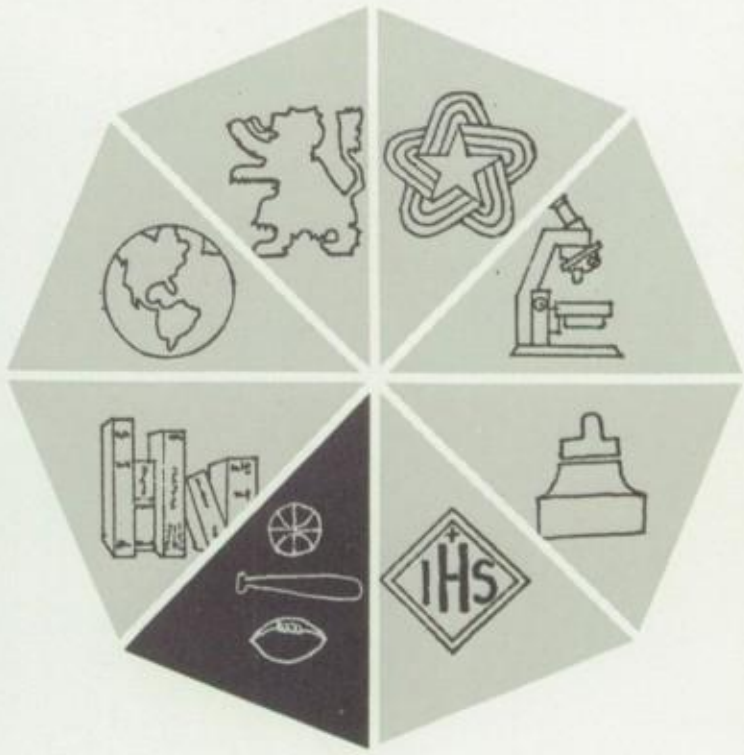
HER

Pigskin Pride

Football at Viator is a strange commodity. For most of us it means two and a half months of weekend excitement, thrills, and an awful lot of pride. But to the men that make football a reality at Viator it is something else. To them football is four years of endless training and preparation, all in anticipation of action that is a Lion varsity season. So when the crackling of bones begins in the humid August heat, few people take notice. But as time marches on, the realization grows, and by the first week of September, the whole school is afire with hopeful expectation . . . another season is about to begin.

The 1975 St. Viator Football Lions were born where their predecessors had been buried. A standing room only crowd was on hand at Forest View as Coach Jim Lyne and quarterback Jim Thompson led a highly touted Lion team onto the damp, soggy field. Viator fans headed home happy after the game. The Lions had roared by the Falcons convincingly, 24-6. But their jubilation would be short-lived.

Next weekend the Lions traveled cross-town to meet arch-rival Hersey. The Lions and their fans were sky-high, stirred by a terrific pep rally earlier in the day. But disaster struck. Turning the ball over three times in the first quarter, the Lions fell behind early and a gallant rally fell painfully short.



Swinging Singles

What kind of man spends his spare time chasing a small white sphere across the wide open spaces of the Rob Roy Golf Club and the other Golf meccas of the globe? He is the Viator linksman, a rare breed of athlete whose teams honors go unheralded but whose individual winnings are more glorified than any other athletes. It is his dedication that has made the Viator golf team an area power and a conference champion.

This past year, veteran Coach Ken Peck fielded another strong team. With Juniors Bob Cantieri and Chuck Lynch and Seniors Fritz Schuler, P.J. Langhenry, and Jim Greisch providing the nucleus, the Lions finished a disappointing second in the ESCC. Although there are many returning underclassmen, the petty rivalries, and obvious favoritism by the coach appear to be the only things keeping this team from returning to the greatness it once had.

A Matter of Inches

Regaining their composure, the Lions went up against the Marist Redskins. When the game was over the team looked good but the score didn't. The Lions dropped a 9-6 shocker.

The ability to come back is possessed only by the finest of teams, and if the quality of the comeback is indicative of the caliber of the team, the the '75 Lions were truly one of the best ever. Displaying their awesome defensive prowess, the Lions gave up an average of only 3.8 points per game in reeling off five straight victories. Notre Dame, Holy Cross, Carmel, and St. Pats were all mauled. Finally in the last conference game of the season the Lions came up against the Pioneers from St. Francis DeSales. Playing their best defensive game of the year the Lions shut out DeSales 4-0 in the rain and mud. To the surprise of no one the Lions brought home another ESCC championship trophy.

The regular season ended on a negative note as the Lions lost to Leo, 17-6. But the thoughts of the team were not directed toward Leo that night. Rather they were focused on the first game of the IHSA football playoffs.

The playoffs took on a special significance when Hersey became the Lions first round opponent. The Lions roared into the game with hope of avenging an early season loss to these same Huskies. As Viator fans drowned out a larger Hersey crowd, the Lions led early, 7-0 but they fell, 28-14.

Painfully, the season ended.

Rookie Runners

Except to a chosen few, Cross Country has been sort of a mystery at Viator. For all the long and tiring hours of practice the harriers put in, they draw the least attention and are given the least praise. But after this year, things may be different. With his experience and dedication, Coach Joe Stehno has put together a strong and promising young team of underclassmen that is bound to turn some heads in the seasons to come.

This year with outstanding performances from seniors Steve Kastner and Tim Hendricks, the Lions finished a strong second in the ESCC competition. Without a doubt, Cross Country is on the verge of the prominence it rightly deserves at Viator.

They Play for Kicks

Soccer has arrived at St. Viator! The lightning quick reflexes and blazing speed required to play this unusual game appear to be too much for both the Athletic Department and the Student Council as both organizations have continually ignored the soccer club as though it didn't even exist. Undaunted by this action the soccer club has continued to play and win against more seasoned opponents, continually showing the talent, enthusiasm, and good sportsmanship that Viator athletes are famous for.

Isn't it about time the Student Body and Athletic Department opened their eyes and recognize a job well done?

Splish-Splash

While the rest of us are trying to stretch out those last few weeks of our summer, the St. Viator Sea Lions and their Coach John Fleck are busy putting together another in the long line of championship, State-ranked Water Polo teams.

The Sea Lion team that in past years has been made up mostly of underclassmen has now matured into one of the most talented and feared teams in the State. Led by All-State Juniors Mark Rusche and Jon Newcomer the Sea Lions are proving that practice does, in fact, make perfect.

Some students enjoy the challenge and stimulation that a scientific environment has to offer. As a result, four years ago, Program Two, the School of Science and Technology was created. Behind the three year leadership of Miss Marlene Wieczorek, Program Two has allowed students at Viator to learn by examining the highly scientific world in which we live. A four year cycle of classes ranging from "Ecology Chemistry" to "Man and His Environment" give Program Two students a chance to become fully aware of science and its place in our society.

The joy
belongs to the builders.
To wait is to yearn; and dead souled people don't yearn.
To wait is to create;
living souls call out to all creation
That they are alive.
To wait is to grow
because all living, precious things need time to

to deepen to mature—something like a seed which must

Even in a school so full of life death can strike. Three times this year death knocked at St. Viator's door. Now three of our brothers no longer walk with us on earth. But they live on with us in spirit. Life will go on—as it should, even though the most unwelcome visitor, death, has come.

Slap Happy

It HAD to happen. After four years of steady but often frustrating improvement the 1975-76 Ice Lions came of age, and in the true St. Viator tradition, did it in stand-out fashion. After two early season losses, the Ice Lions played for more than two months without a defeat, finished the season with a magnificent 23-4-1 record, and treated themselves and their fans to a first place finish in the tough Northwest Division of the Chicago Metro High School Hockey League.

The road to the summit was not an easy one, however. Battling illness and injury much of the season, the Lions still managed to completely dominate their opponents, scoring an average of 5 goals a game while allowing only 2 to be scored against them.

There were plenty of four-star performances by individuals, but everyone, players and fans alike, agreed that it was a TEAM effort that allowed the Lions to tame the wilds of the Metro hockey league.

A Pale Shade of Gray

Entering the opening round of the Metro League Play-offs, the Ice Leons once again proved their superiority in the Northwest Division. A hard fought victory over Palatine and a cliff-hanging tie against arch-rival Maine South put the Ice Lions in the North Suburban Championship.

In an awesome display of hockey talent, the Lions humiliated Chicago's Lane Tech 14-4 in the opening game. Next in line were the Deerfield Warriors. In a rough, fast paced game the Lions fell 6-2.

The 1975-76 St. Viator Ice Lions, will long be remembered as one of the finest teams to ever come out of St. Viator High School.

Another Openin'

To say that KISS ME KATE, the tenth annual St. Viator–Sacred Heart musical possessed an undeniable enthusiasm from its very inception would be stretching the truth to the limit. Sure, the talent was there and so was the desire, but like any production that has a reputation of excellence to live up to, practice was needed to get the show off the ground.

And so rehearsals began. They came as a welcome releif to the boring nights that would have been spent at home. They were week night social extravaganzas that gave you a chance to meet a few new friends and just have a good time. Things began to fall into place and soon KISS ME KATE became a reality.

Another Show

And so rehearsals continued. And as the nights passed, what once was euphoria turned to monotony. Rehearsals were now a chance to get some homework done, and a chance to belt out "Another Opening" eight or ten times without becoming bored. But mostly rehearsals were a chance to hear the booming baritone of director J.J. Stamm filling the auditorium with words like, "That stunk! I want to see the whole scene again! Move it!" The thrill was now gone.

But as the days flew by and opening night drew dangerously close and the momentum was regained. The spirit and enthusiasm of the first few rehearsals filled the auditorium once again. Mr. Stamm filled his cast and crew with the confidence and professionalism that only he can inspire. Yes, the area's best dramatic production was alive again.

Roller-mania

"Magnificent". "Fantastic". Some called it the finest opening to ever hit the Viator stage. And as the laughs and ovations poured out from the audience, the cast of "Kiss Me Kate" responded with five more sparkling performances.

The St. Viator-Sacred Heart musical was once again a smashing success. Everyone involved in putting the show on stage made it clear that it is a tradition that must live on at St. Viator.

A Different Drummer

Over the last four years, one area of innovative attempt has been Christian Liturgy. Christmas, Easter, and other important times of the academic year have been punctuated with highly creative celebration. Each liturgy has tried to capture the mood of the event. Most have been highly successful—using modern readings, well thought out sermons, and creative banners. Some students have responded with enthusiasm and support. Not all have taken advantage of the liturgies, but each must listen to a "different drummer". Even the word of God does not reach all men, and some reject even this opportunity.

But my homework is done.

I'm gonna rock the nation

Just wanna have fun."

One Club, please

With so much constantly going on at the home of the Lion, we are sometimes forced to overlook the vast array of extra-curricular clubs and organizations that are at our disposal. So, since it is the Viatomes job to give an accurate account of what Viator is all about, we thought we would run down the list of clubs and name the select few that we feel deserve recognition.

First, we have the Computer Club, where man and machine together fight a never ending battle against the unknown factors of intellectuality. Or you can choose St. Viators reknown Spanish Club and thrill to the charms and mysteries of Castillian Culture.

If snow and sun turn you on, check-out the St. Viator-Wilmot Ski Club, home of Olympic and World Cup ski champions. Finally, if you are really looking for a challenge, become a member of St. Viator's notorious Radio Club. Here you can learn the ins and outs of America's most consistent communications medium. As a club members you may even be lucky enough to listen in on a rare broadcast by the station's team of highly trained professionals (?).

So the next time you feel you need a change of pace, or a new set of horizons to explore, pick one of these fine extra-curriculars or one of those we did not mention like the ah, ah . . . it's on the tip of my tongue . . . the ah . . . well, you get the message; there is just SO MUCH going on here.

Junior Senators

The St. Viator Student Government, like its cronies in Washington, at times, seems to work under conditions that would put the Dan Ryan at five to shame. But under this cloud of presumed chaos is a well oiled machine that does a job nothing short of superb in running student affairs.

This year, the Student Government continued to handle matters ranging from soc-hops to proms, while also making important decisions concerning cheerleaders and attire at student activities.

So in spite of their ability to keep an incredibly low profile, the Student Government plays a big part in making a four year stay at Viator an enjoyable experience for everyone.

Battling it out with the Soccer Club for the honorary title of "Least Recognized" extra-curricular at Viator is the Band. To those who are involved in the Music Program at Viator, it is a richly rewarding experience; but with only a few rare exceptions, the rest of the student body could care less about the endeavors of the Band; and that's a plain shame.

After this year however, the scene may change considerably. Frank Bowen, Viator's latest Music Director, has molded a once motley crew of musicians into a tight, versatile band. Their performances at athletic events, as well as the numerous concerts they put on during the year assure that the Band is on the road respectability.

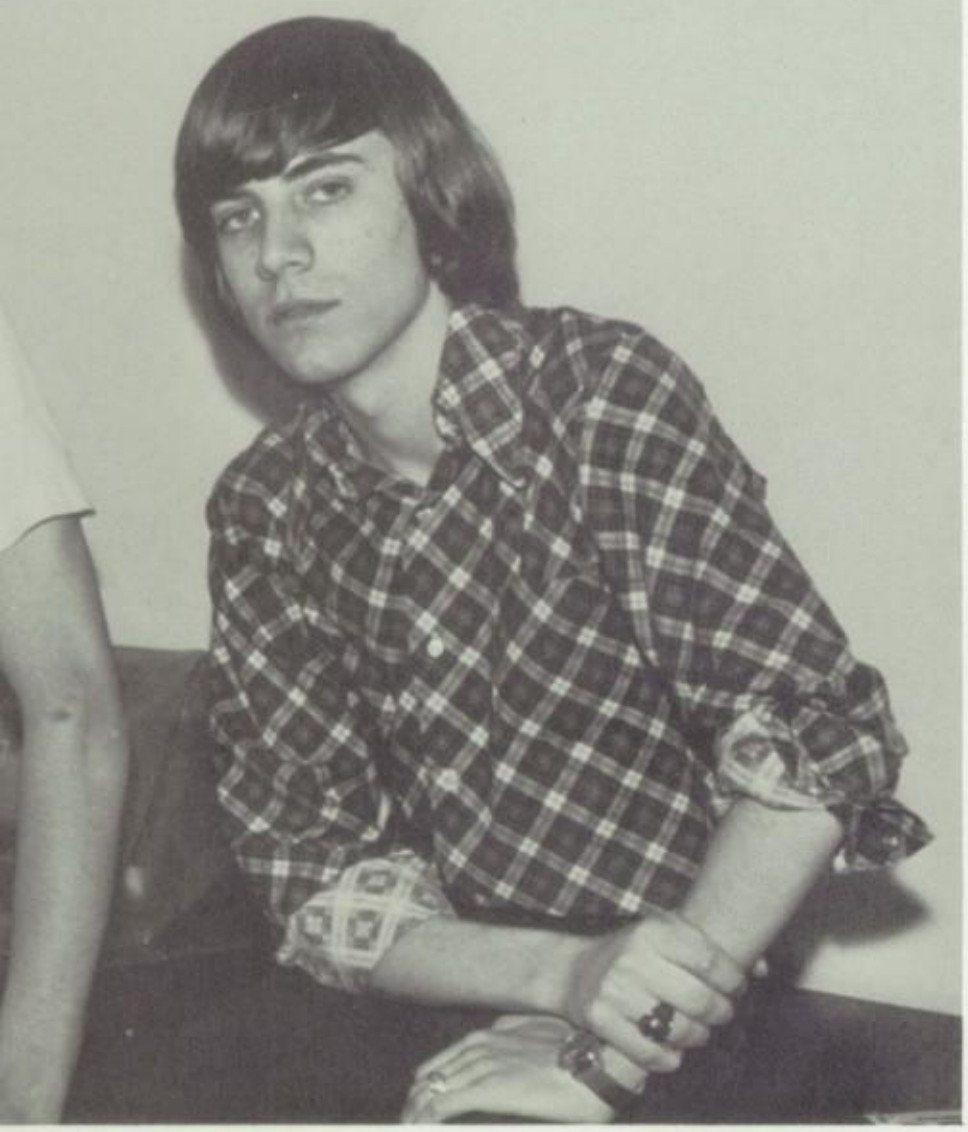
Too Many Cooks. . .



Whoever said "it's quality—not quantity" obviously had the St. Viator Student Newsqaper THE VOYAGUER in mind. Running into the journalistic brickwalls of missed deadlines, lost copy, and internal mayhem again this year, THE VOYAGUER still managed to hit the stands no less than eight times.

With Junior Jim Mitchell calling the shots from his plush, executive office on the third floor, THE VOYAGUER presented news views, and features that were assigned, written, and edited by the students. THE VOYAGUER gave credit where it was due, and criticized (often strongly) when it was necessary.

This year's VOYAGUER, though it did not break any circulation records, added still another dimension to life at St. Viator.

Every year the school appoints a yearbook staff to put together the yearbook. They continue to believe that without to much difficulty the staff can put together the 208 page chronicle of what goes on each year. Here before you, despite some difficulty, is the result of 9 months of hard work—your yearbook.

What we have tried to do this year was give the graduating class a look at this year as well as a look back at 1972 when the school changed to the program system. Hopefully our divider pages and special center section reflect our ideas. Of course we would like to please all of our readers, but realistically we won't. If any of our pictures, layouts, copy, artwork or index offend you we humbly apologize. If, however, you disagree with our opinions we do not apologize. We reserve the right to print our opinions.

As usual THANKS to certain people where deserved:

. . . To Lee Auer, our veteran moderator who will be leaving the yearbook after four years to join the priesthood. It is his gentle, yet needed restraint that has made this yearbook what it is. He will be missed; good moderators are hard to come by.

. . . Jim Greisch, the Editor-in-chief. It is through his many long hours laying out, writing copy, and finalizing pages that has produced the book before you. But as all editors learn, this is precisely the job of the editor. The main applause or boos are in the readers' hands.

. . . Ed Miller, the Photography Editor. Through Ed's long hours after school with the photographer we had good quality pictures to put in the book.

. . . Larry Maher, Business Manager. Although he couldn't fill the big shoes left by G.R. Garrabrant, he did raise a sizeable amount of money and he did pay off our end of the yearbook.

. . . Dave Olsen, who once again landed the fun job of indexing the countless obscure faces. After a shaky start and a lack of communication he got his act together and did a fine job. The best of luck to him next year.

. . . Tom Murray, Copy Editor. After a slow start with a new language (English), he finally got a hold of a dictionary and delivered some fine copy. Best wishes to Tom for next year.

. . . Joel Forsythe, who drew the first original cover and theme design in many years.

. . . Joe Schmidt, who helped find those nameless faces in the long list of names they call a roster. Thanks, and good luck next year.

. . . Marty Hower, who was new to the yearbook this year. Needless to say his valuable assistance was needed and greatly appreciated. Thanks.

. . . Bob Weaver, John Langhenry, Mark Langhenry, Jim Deger, John Henderson, and Ed G. Miller. The little things are the most important and fell into their hands and the result was good. Thanks for the help.

. . . To SOME teachers who gave their time and cooperation during picture taking and deadline time, especially Fr. Milton and Mrs. Germanos.

. . . Root Photography and Pischel Yearbooks. Without them we wouldn't have any yearbook at all. Many thanks once again.

. . . Last but certainly not least, Bart Murphy, our yearbook representative. Without Bart our yearbook would remain only average. It is because of Bart that we have many special touches. A heartfelt thanks.

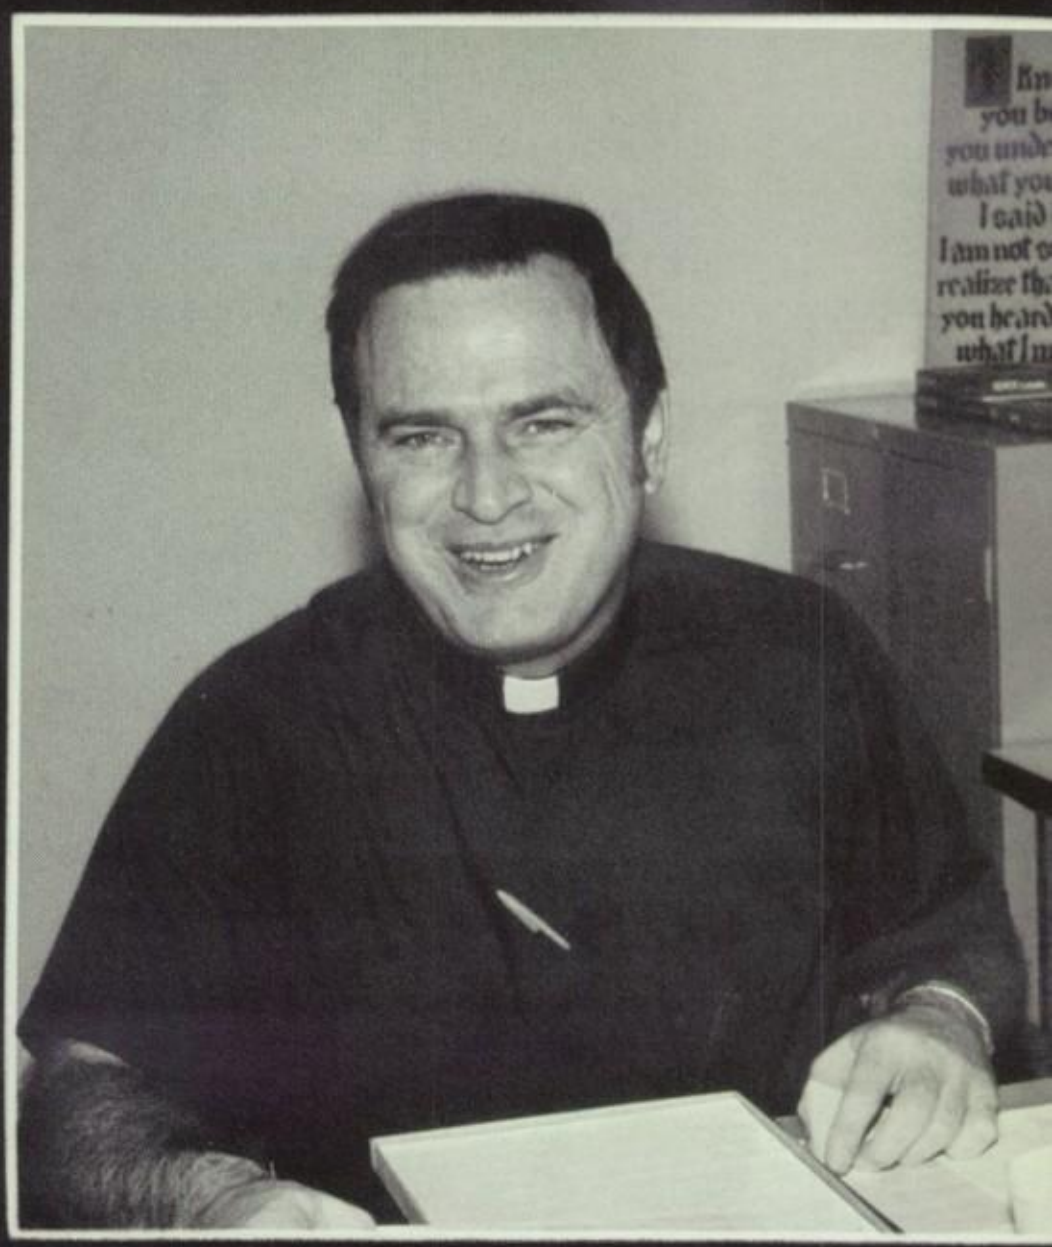
1972

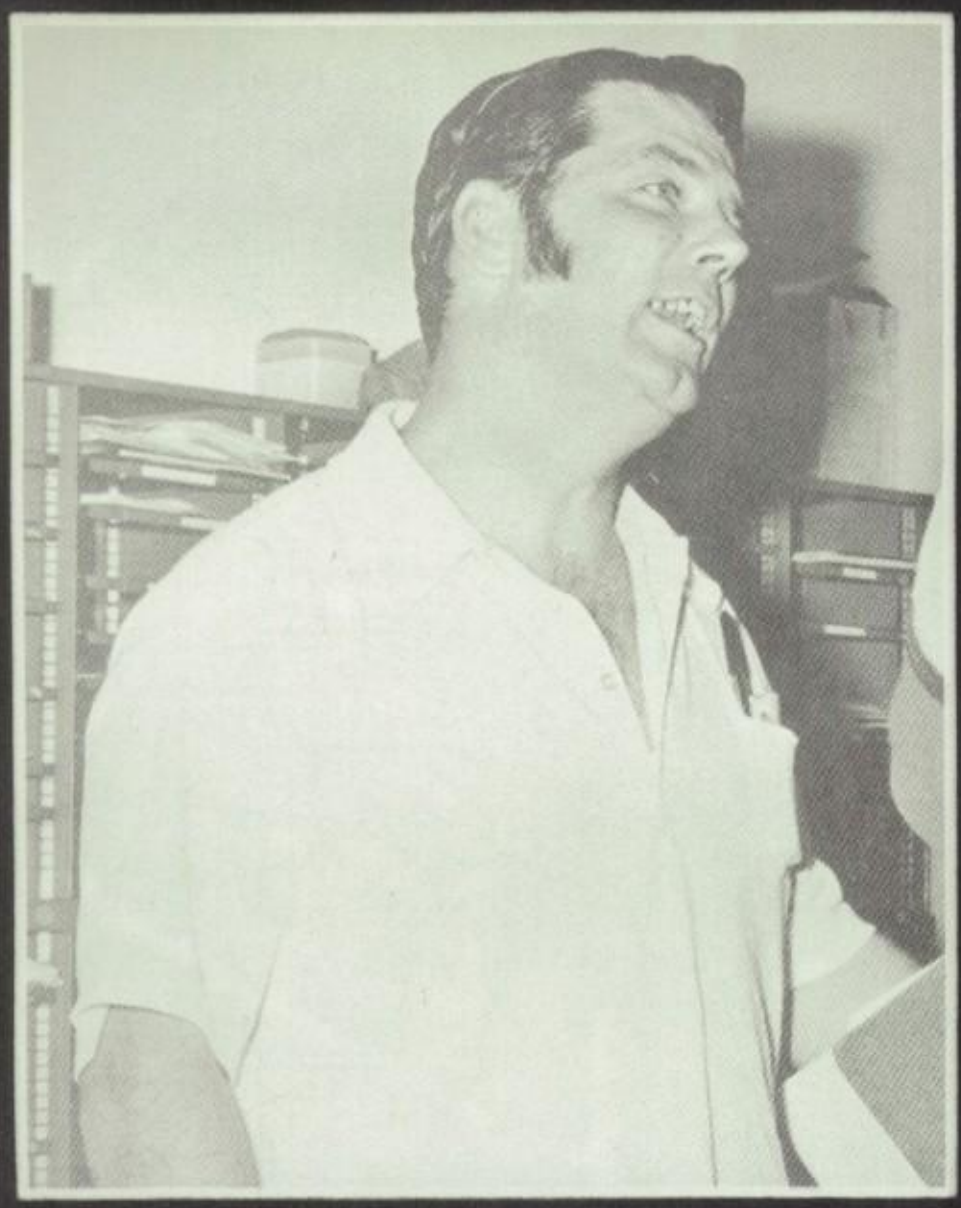
Today St. Viator is on the verge of a significant contribution to education with the introduction of four schools within a school. Students now have the opportunity to choose a concentrated field of study ranging from humanities to science. Students now are freer to study the things that interest them and have some usefulness to their chosen career. St.Viator is opening new doors. St.Viator is. . .

The change started with this man, Bro. Leo Ryan in 1972.



1974 brought this man, Fr. Patrick Cahill to the office of President.

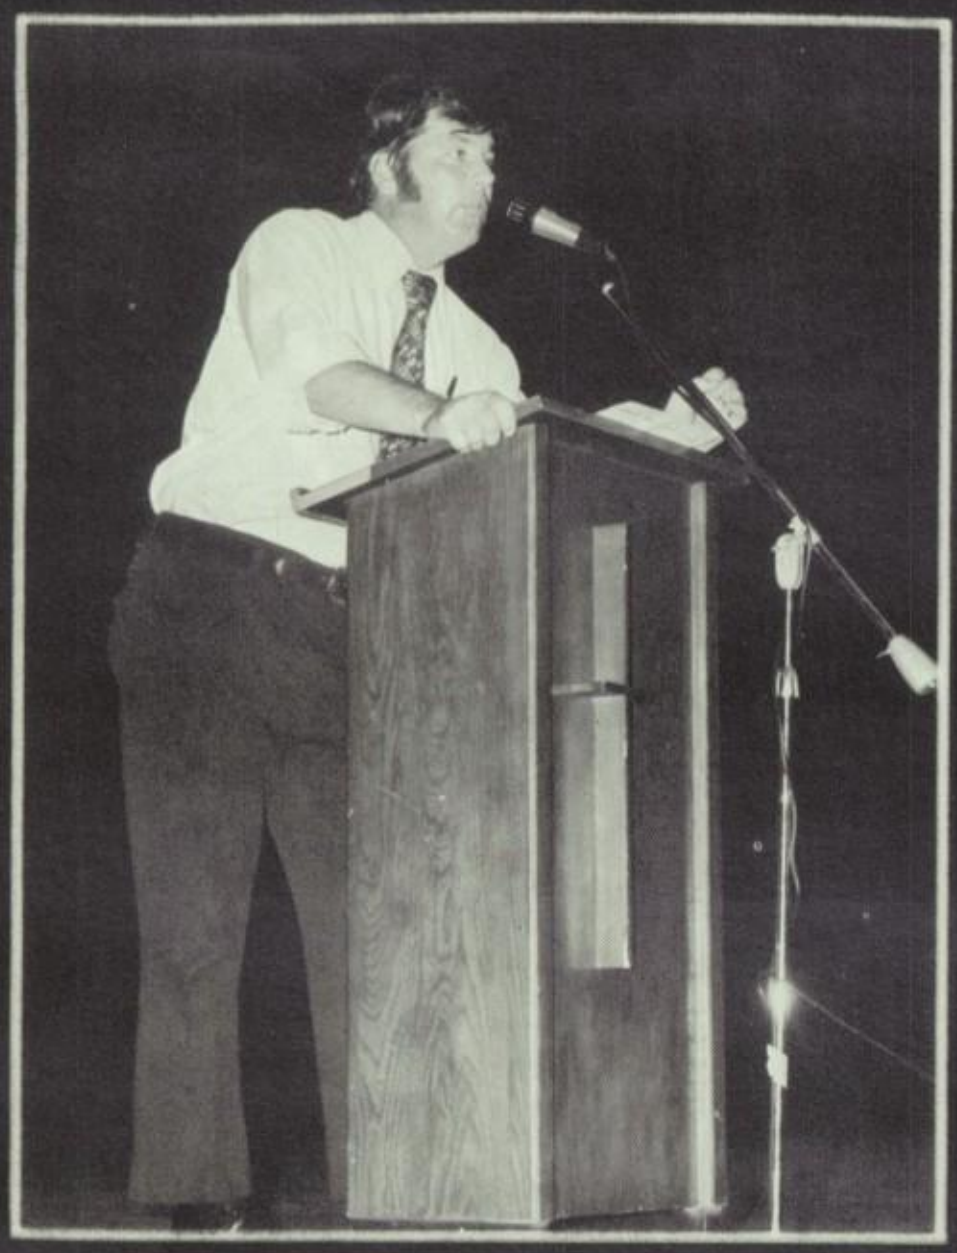
The building has remained the same on the outside, but inside the faces have changed.



No one leaves St. Viator without strong feelings towards Mr. Pat Mahoney. Some get to know him better than others but nonetheless we love him just the same.

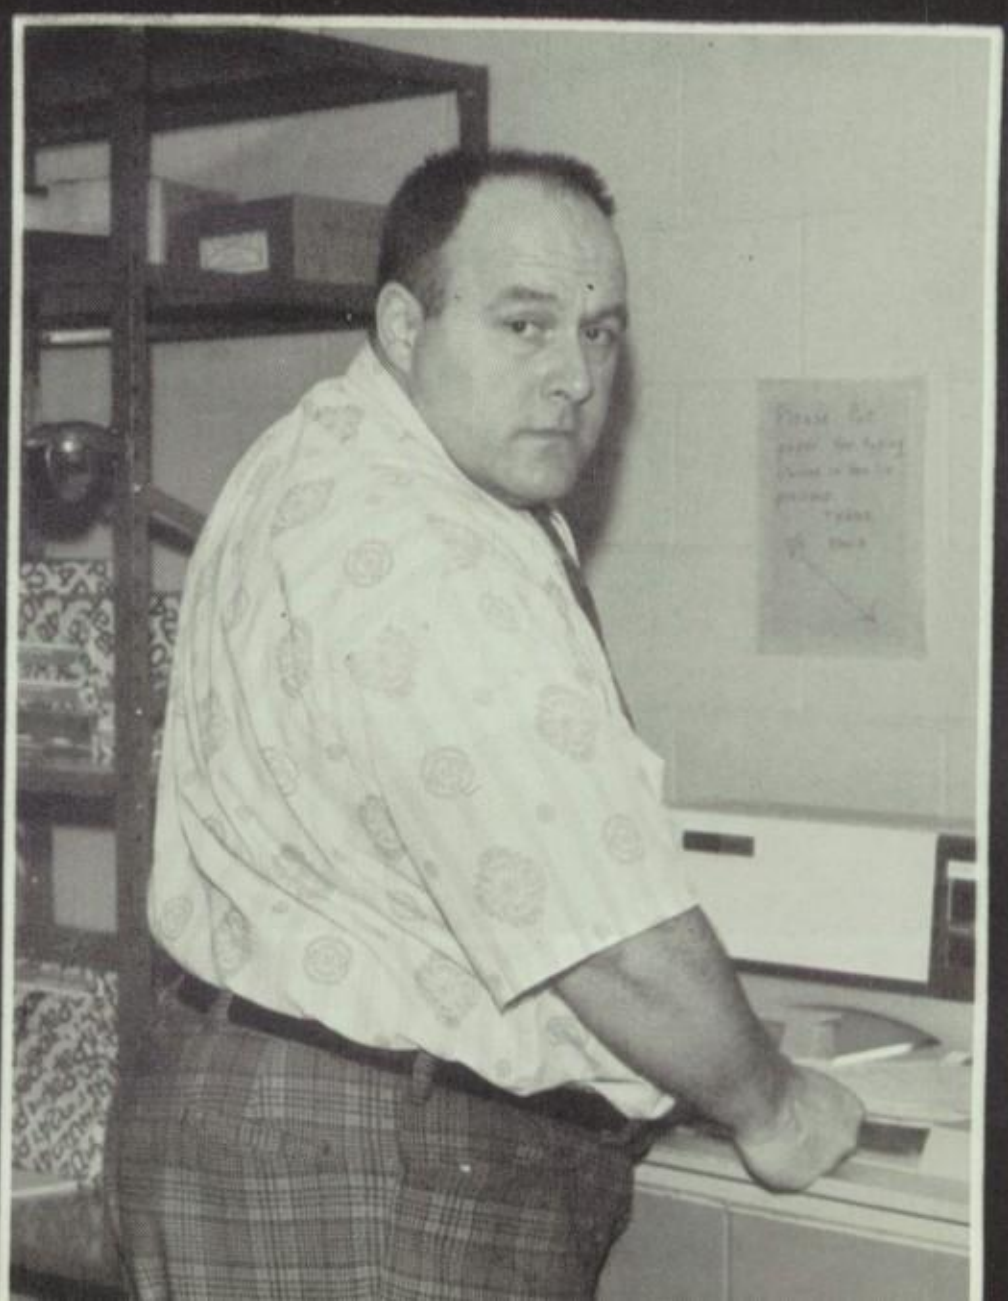
Few among us miss the opportunity to cross paths with Mr. Ken Peck. His "joke of the day" has kept us all laughing through thick and thin. Whether we remember him as our coach, teacher, or simply our friend, we will always remember him.

1976



Our "beloved" dean. 1976

It would be nearly impossible to go through four years at St. Viator without being touched by some member of our faculty. Their faces may change from year to year, but they will always remain the sensitive, helpful people they are. Our faculty is. . .



Mr. Ken Peck. 1976

Wolfpack? What's a wolfpack?

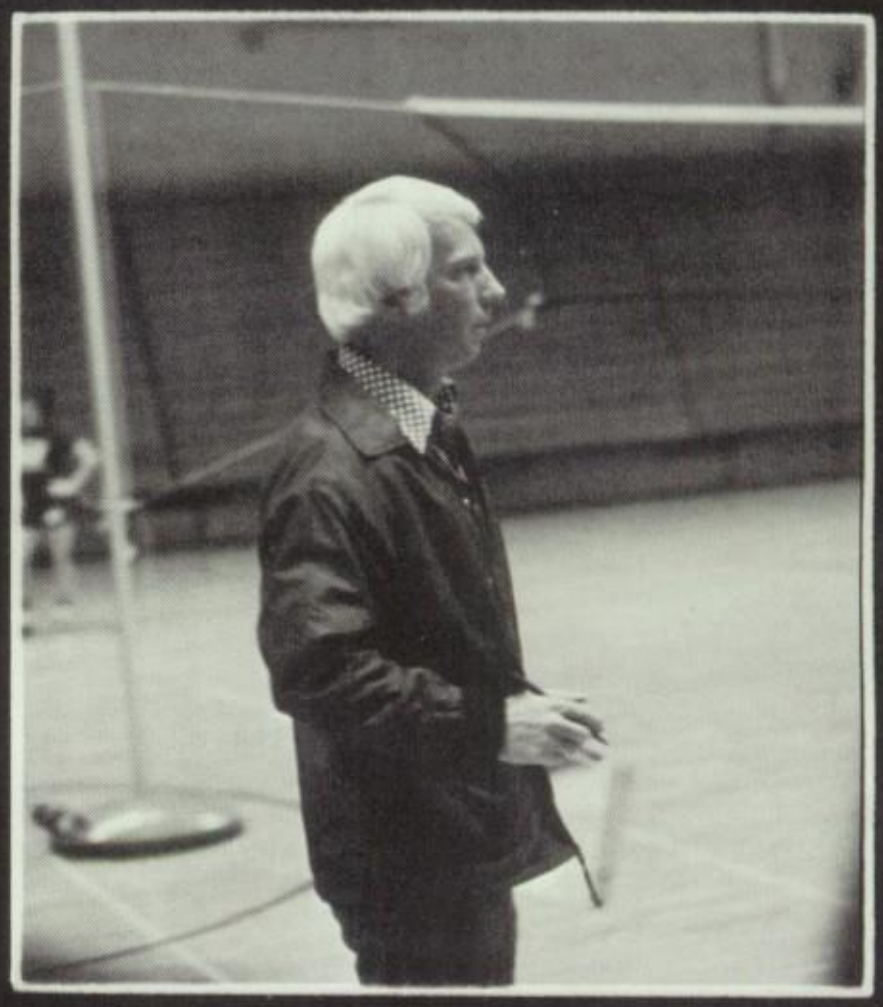
Football—it means different things to different people. But regardless who you are, it most likely symbolizes a special kind of pride. And why not? Conference champs in '74, '75, and '76 and berths in the state tournament in '75 and '76. Football—it means different things to different people.



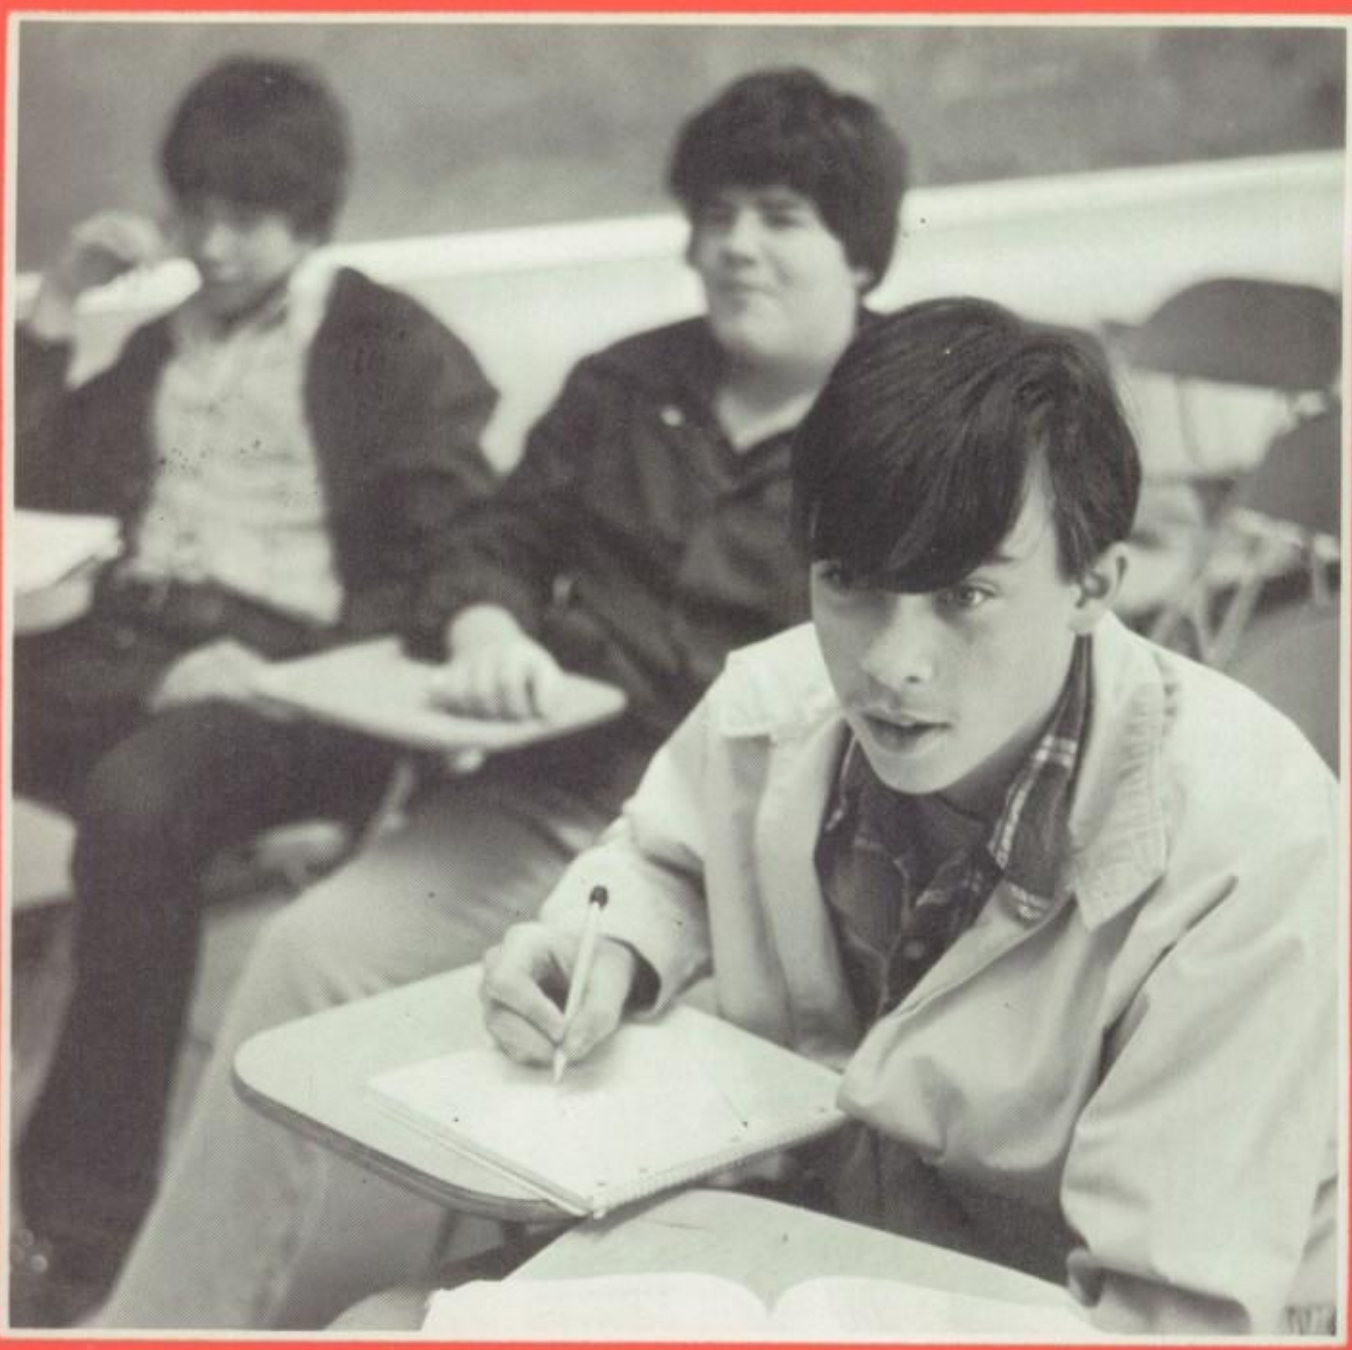
As a result of our good football team this man is widely accepted as one of the best high school football coaches in the area.

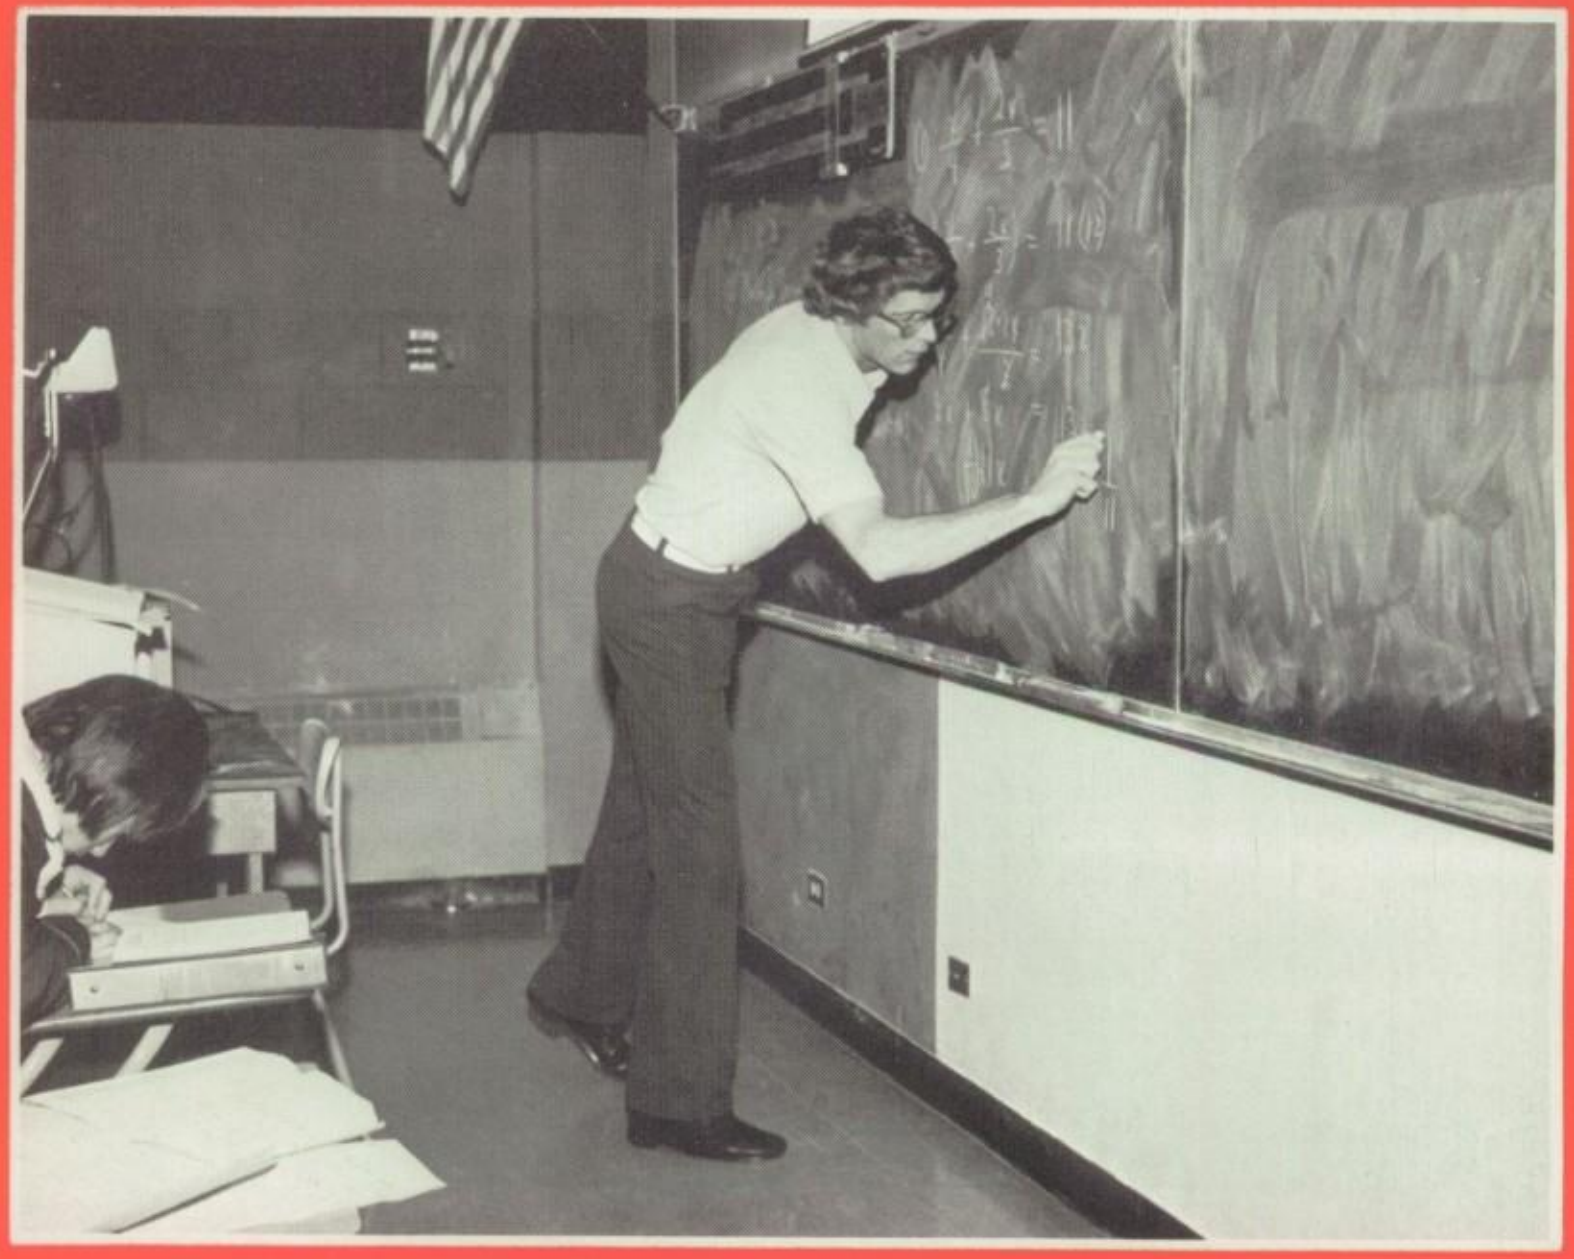
His name? Jim Lyne

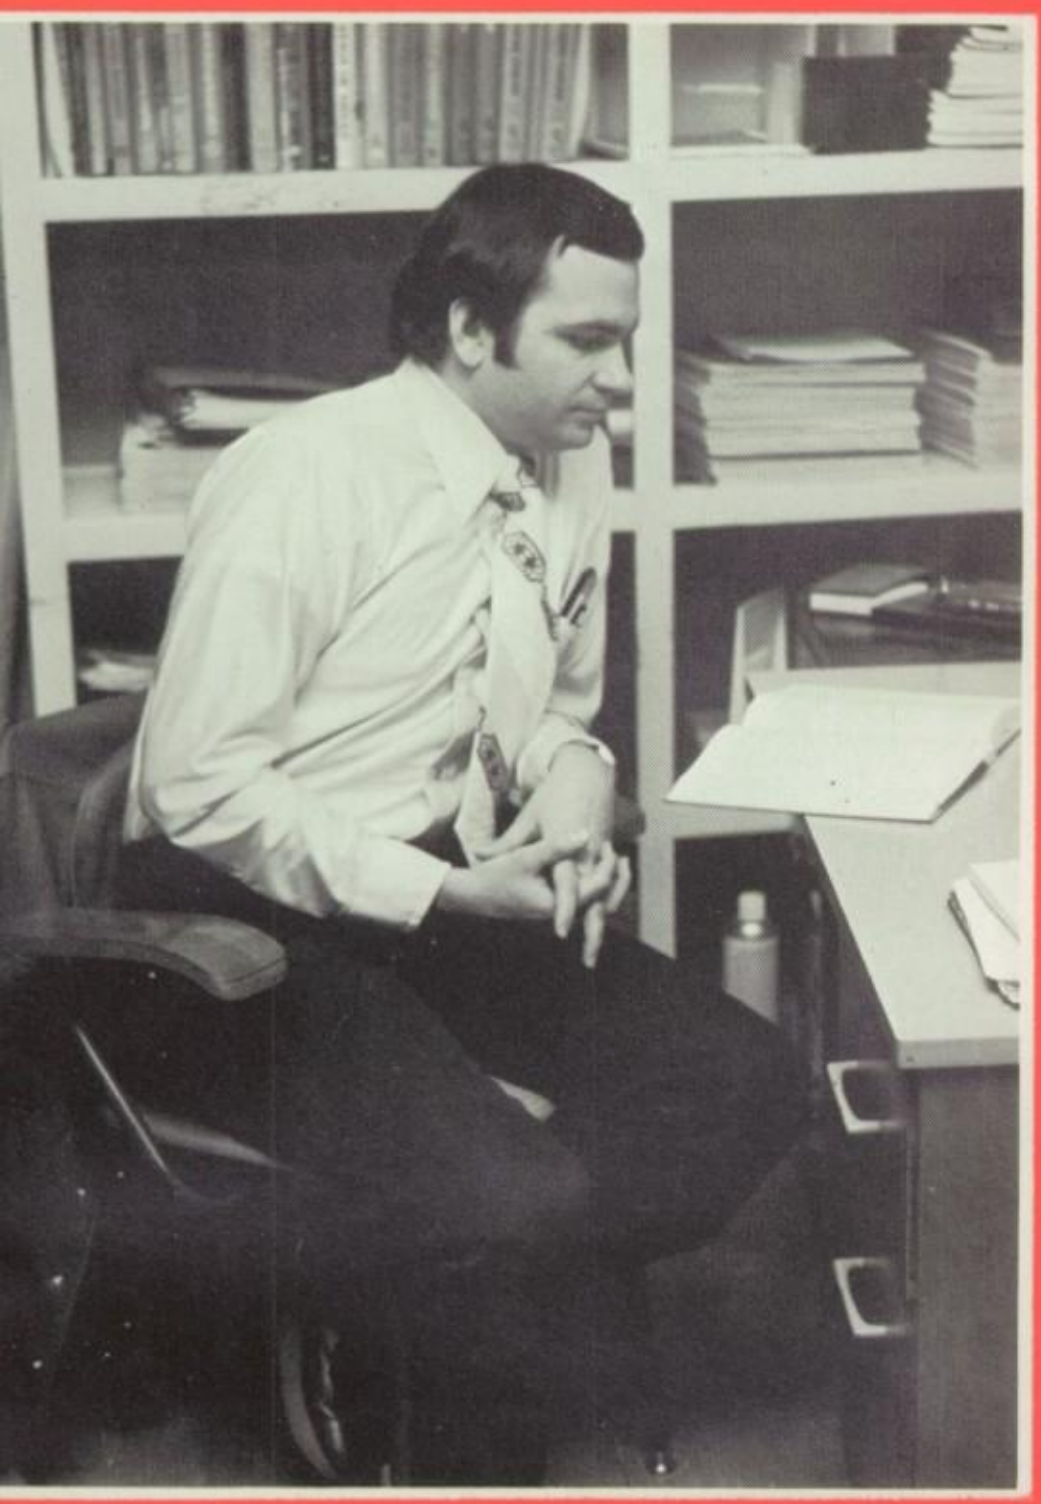
1976

. . . St. Viator has made a significant contribution to education.

Of the experiments that were tried, some failed, but the majority of them worked. Today what was a dream in 1972, becomes reality as the graduates walk through the doors of St. Viator for the last time. The dream of a better way to educate the youth of America will live on, as will St. Viator.







Give me a chance to show you who I am.

I'm more than you may think.

I'm a smile- a crutch-

I'm the peace of mind you've needed for years.

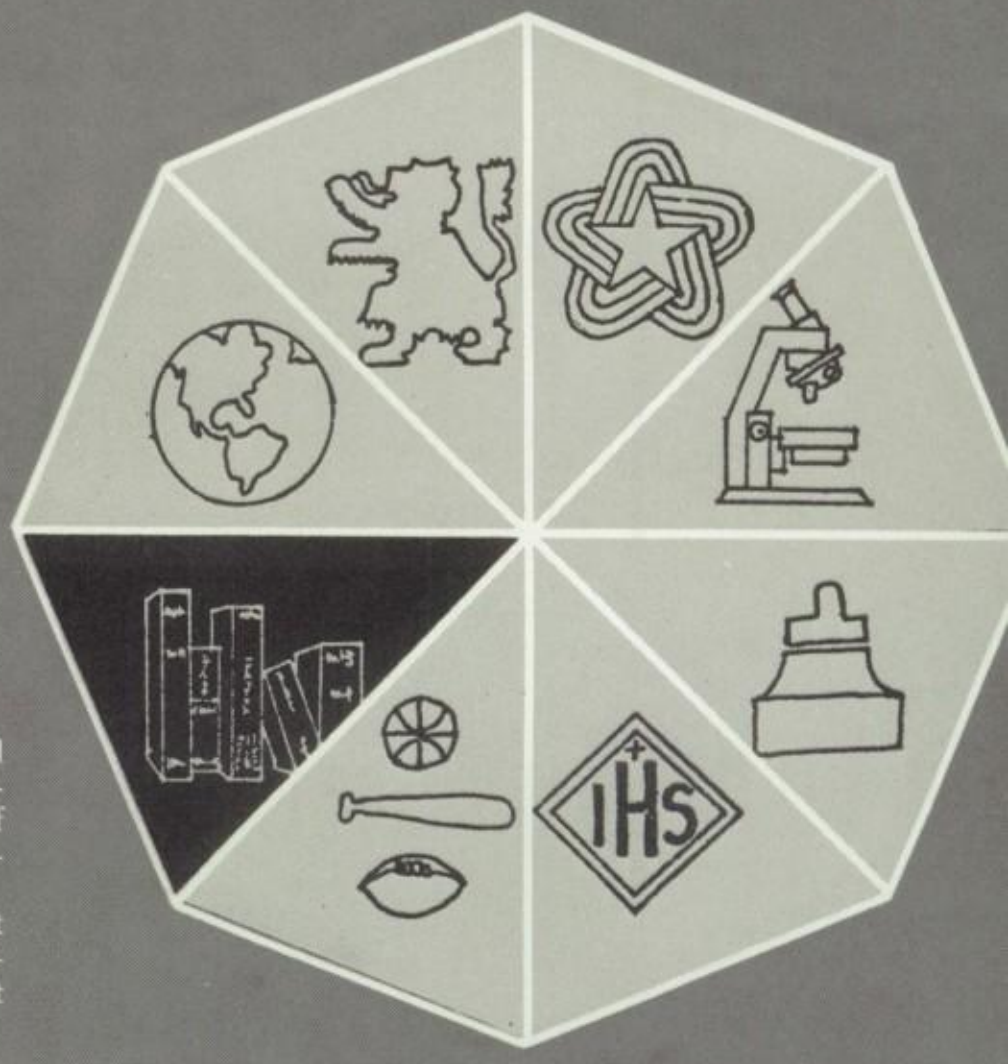
And it doesn't matter if I'm black or white

Or yellow or green

because-

I'm a person.



Program Three

For four years Program Three has existed for students who feel they work better in a structured educational system. Called "Traditional" by some, the School of General Studies has utilized many of the latest ideas in education including an annual "minimester," interesting electives and new teaching methods.

When change swept St. Viator Four years ago, it was obvious that some educational stability was needed. Now four years later, it is apparent that this opportunity to allow the past to live in the present has served the Viator community well.

WOLFPACK PRE-TEST

PURPOSE: To screen out undesirables bent on gaining favor with Wolfpack members. The pre-test is followed by the actual Wolfpack Initiation Test which pits man against nature in a rigorous struggle for survival. To this day, none but existing Wolfpack charter members have survived this ordeal. May those that have failed rest in peace.

ANSWER THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS IN THE MANNER OF A TRUE WOLFPACKER. Instructions are included with each.

1)Name by Wolfpack frontier nickname, all existing Wolfpack members and praise each satisfactorily. (Failure to correctly complete this trial question will result in immediate rejection of your test form. By all means do not be brief!) Use other sheets of paper.

2)Complete the following analogy. ANT is to MAN as _____ is to WOLFPACK. Choose from following.

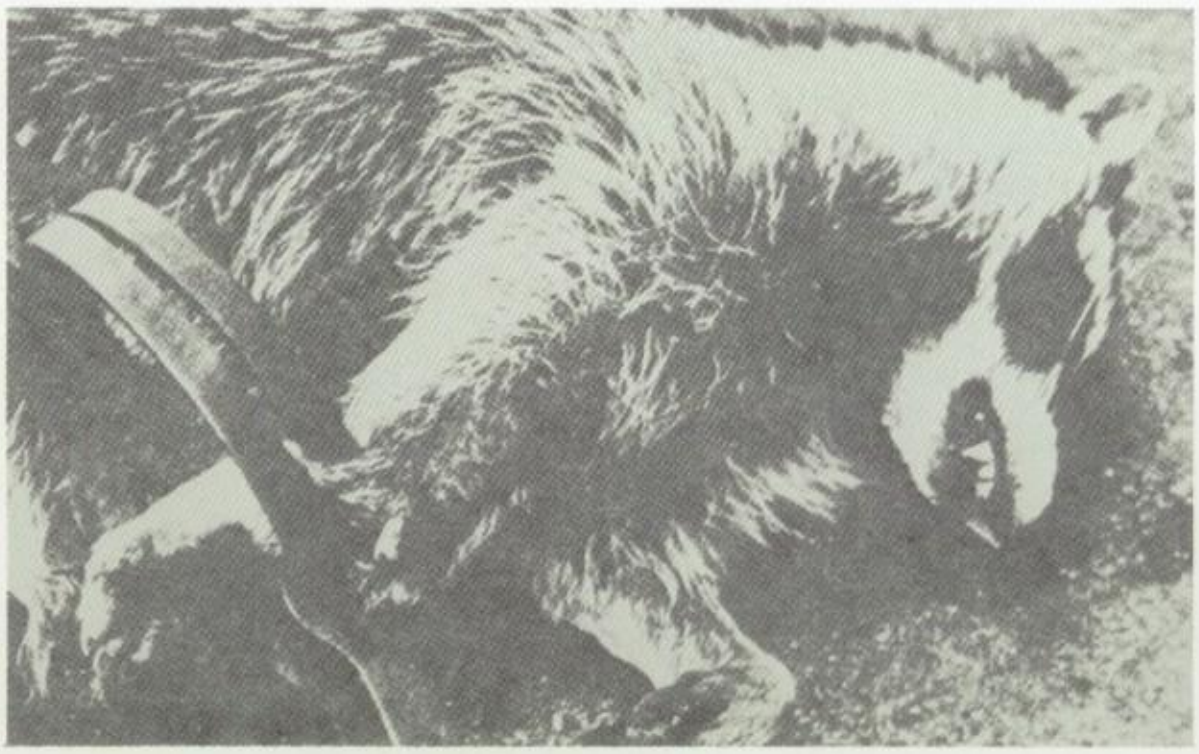
a. Applicant

3)From the list below, choose those items included in a nutritious Wolfpack meal. Place an X before correct choices.

_Spiders (venomous variety)
_Post Toasties
_Coca Cola
_Rattlesnake skins
_Bear meat (raw)
_Fish heads
_Big Mac
Siberian tiger entrails
_Fries
_Chicken (roast)
_Chicken (ras, mashed whole)
_Worms and grubs
_Filet mignon
_Dirt
_Asparagus
_Raw rhubarb

4)Name three states worthy for the Wolfpack to reside in.

5)



Upon seeing the above photograph write in twenty words or less a description of your agony, despair and sorrow.

Wolfpack Material

6)Choose the figure below that most nearly approximates the virility of Wolfpack Charter Members.

7)Place an "E" for enemy before the names of identified enemies of the Wolfpack.

Place a "D" for decent before identified allies of the Wolfpack.

__S.V.L.A.

__Guns

__Crank°

__Bulldozers

__Dams

__Sewage°

__Bear traps

__John Denver

__The states of Illinois, Ohio, Nebraska and Florida

°WE realize that Crank and sewage are very similar, but do the best you can.

8)You are lost in the hot desert (never too hot for Wolfpackers). A devastating dust storm approaches. Given that a rattlesnake pit lies close by, give the most viable means of survival.

a. After biting off heads of rattlesnakes, erect indestructable tent from skins o' rattlers.

b. Jump into snake pit and certain death.

c. Foolishly await the storm and unavoidable annihilation.

9)°extra credit

Choose the correct Wolfpack cry.

a. Gimme a beer!

b. Aaaaaahooooooooo!

c. Ooooooohhhaaaaaaa!

STOP!

YOU WILL BE NOTIFIED OF YOUR SCORE ON THIS PRE-TEST AND THE WOLFPACK DECISION ON ALLOWING YOU TO TAKE INITIATION TEST.

Driving Determination

The two D's, desire and dedication are known as the keys to success in any endeavor, but they are the golden rule in the sport of wrestling. The 1975-76 St. Viator grapplers, showing the desire and dedicauion that have made Viator athletes famous, put together another fine season, finishing their regular season slate with a 9 win, 8 loss record.

But once again, individual accomplishments surpassed those of the team. Leading the way was Senior Scott Zettek who placed a highly respectable fifth in state competition. Senior Tim Jordan finished second in the ESCC at 119 pounds and Juniors Scott Malouf and Gordie Kaiser placed second and fourth respectively at 105 and 155 pounds.

Under the well trained eye of second year coach John Wendell, the Lions began to show the skill and strength that will without a doubt bring an ESCC Wrestling Title to Viator in the very near future.

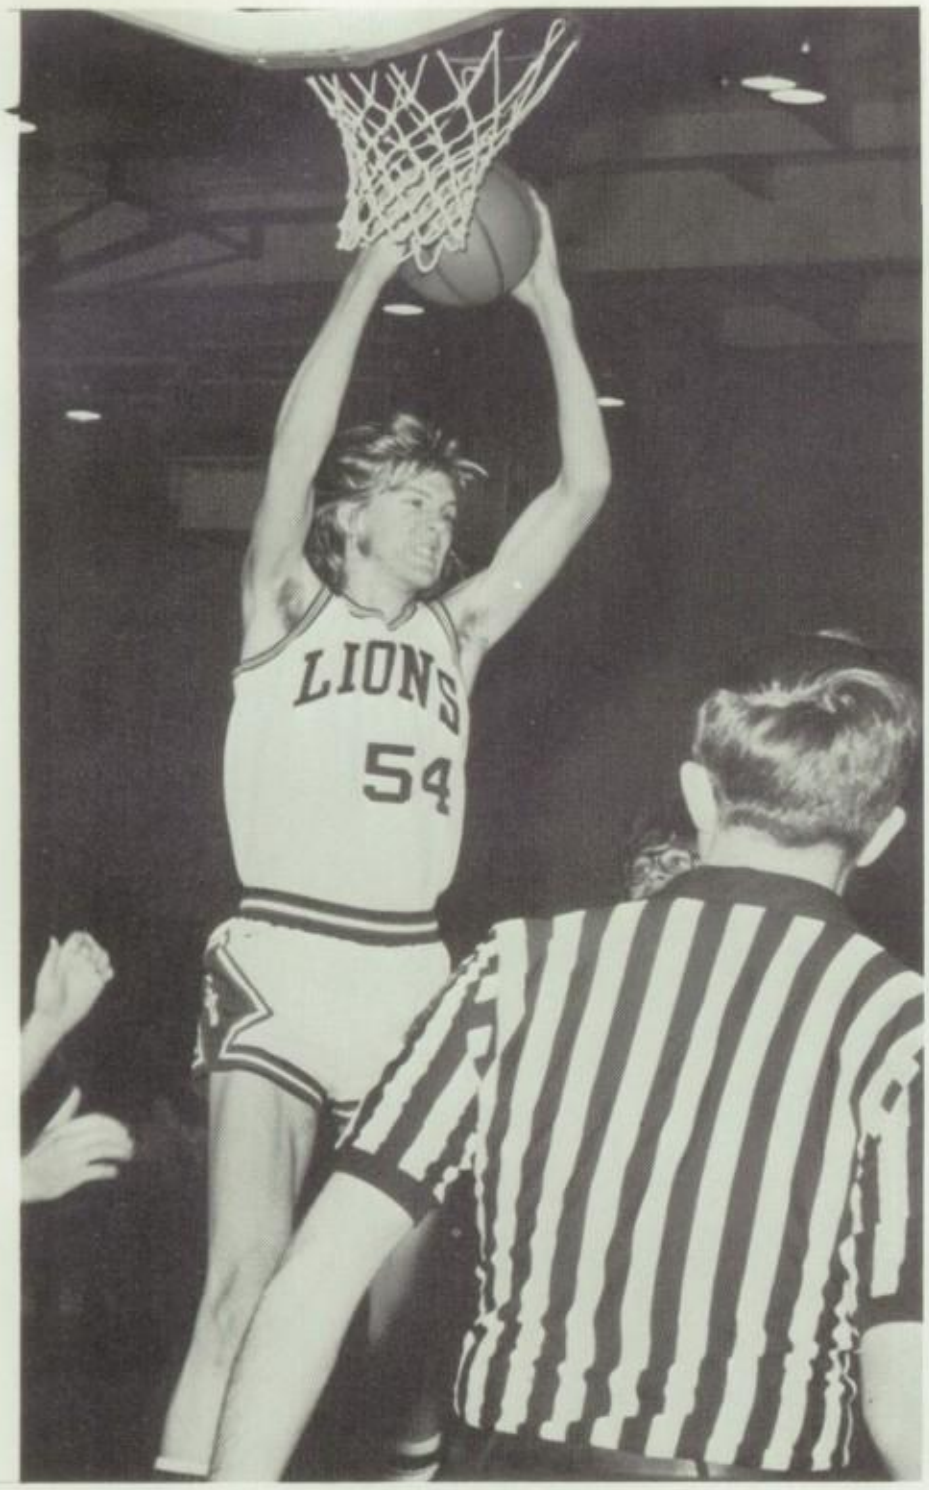
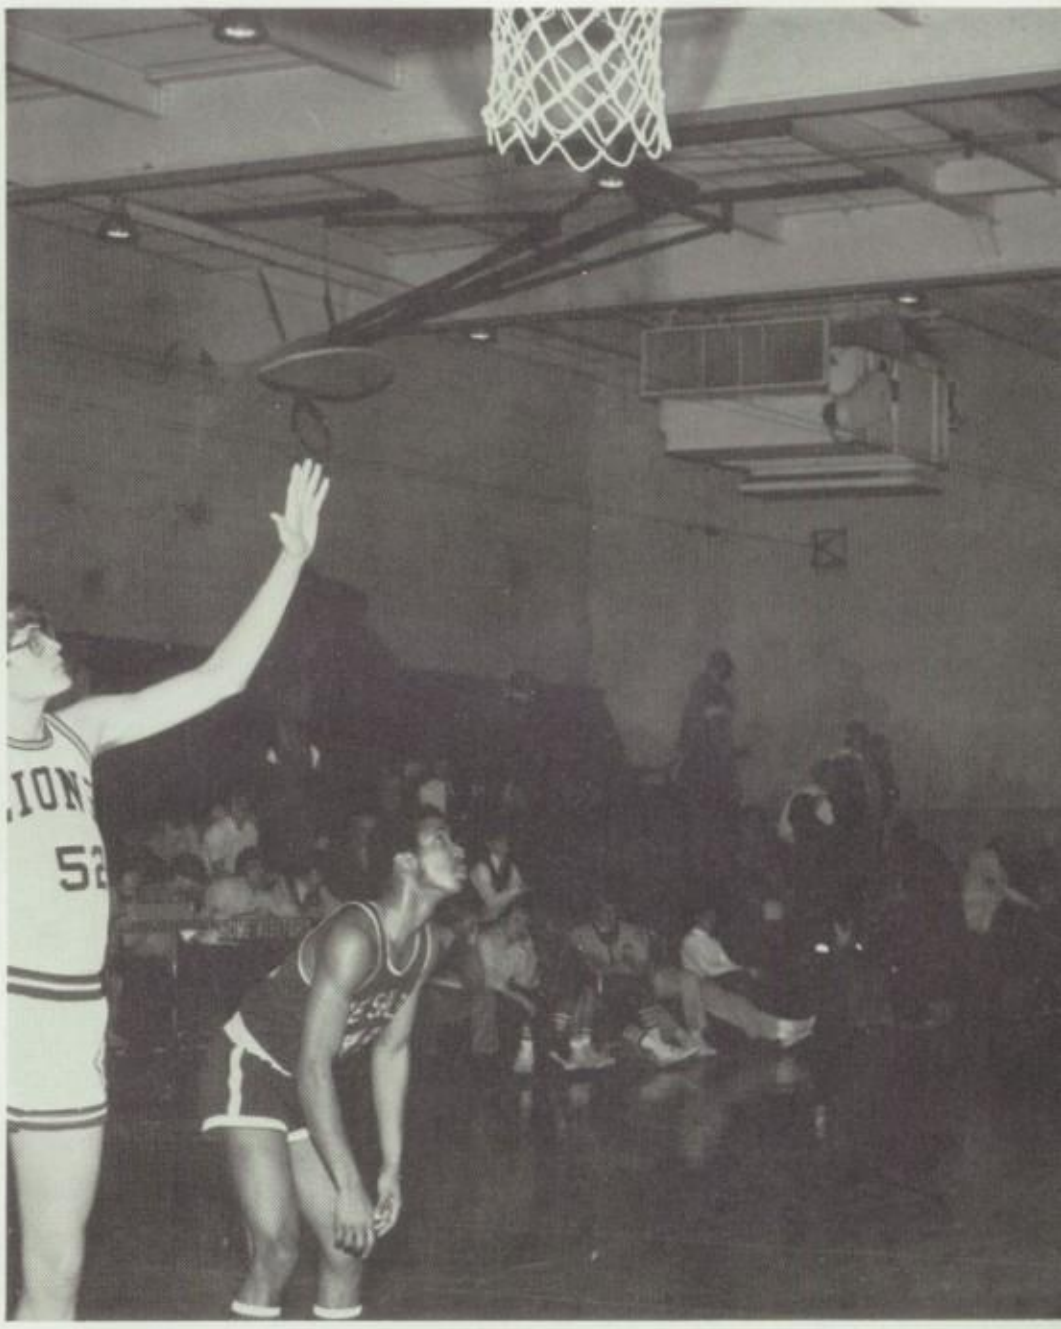
Cregier's Cagers





From the very onset of training camp, it was obvious that the 1975-76 basketball season would be a special challenge for the St. Viator Lions. After being hit hard by graduation (three starters and one head coach), it looked like another year of slow, painful "rebuilding" for the men in blue. But newly appointed Head Coach Ron Cregier and his squad of young, talented cagers had other ideas.

Stressing an aggressive, defense-minded style of play, Coach Cregier wasted no time in stirring up a pre-season enthusiasm in his team that quickly wore off on the Student Body. Without apparent reason, the Lion's "Defensive Player of the Day" beme a school-wide celebrity. Practices were going well; the ayers were hungry for a successful season. Yes, it looked like Year of the Lion was finally upon us.

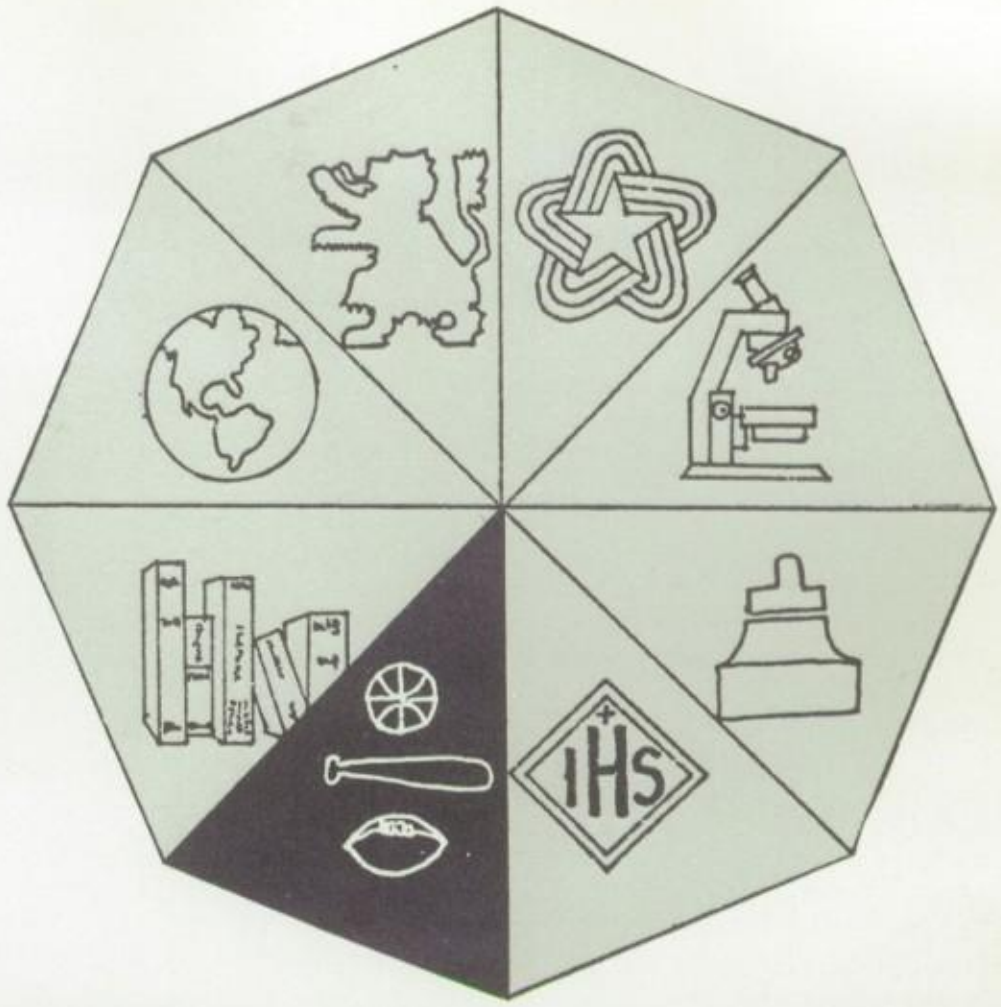
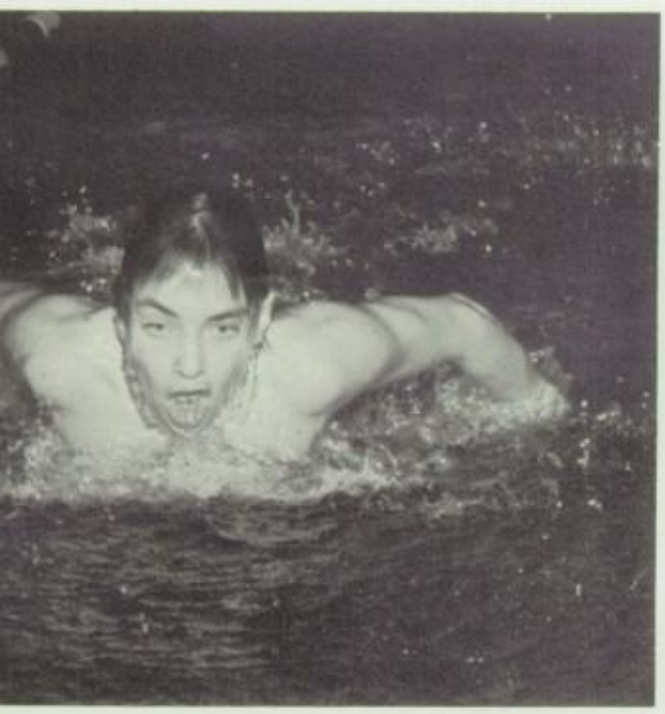
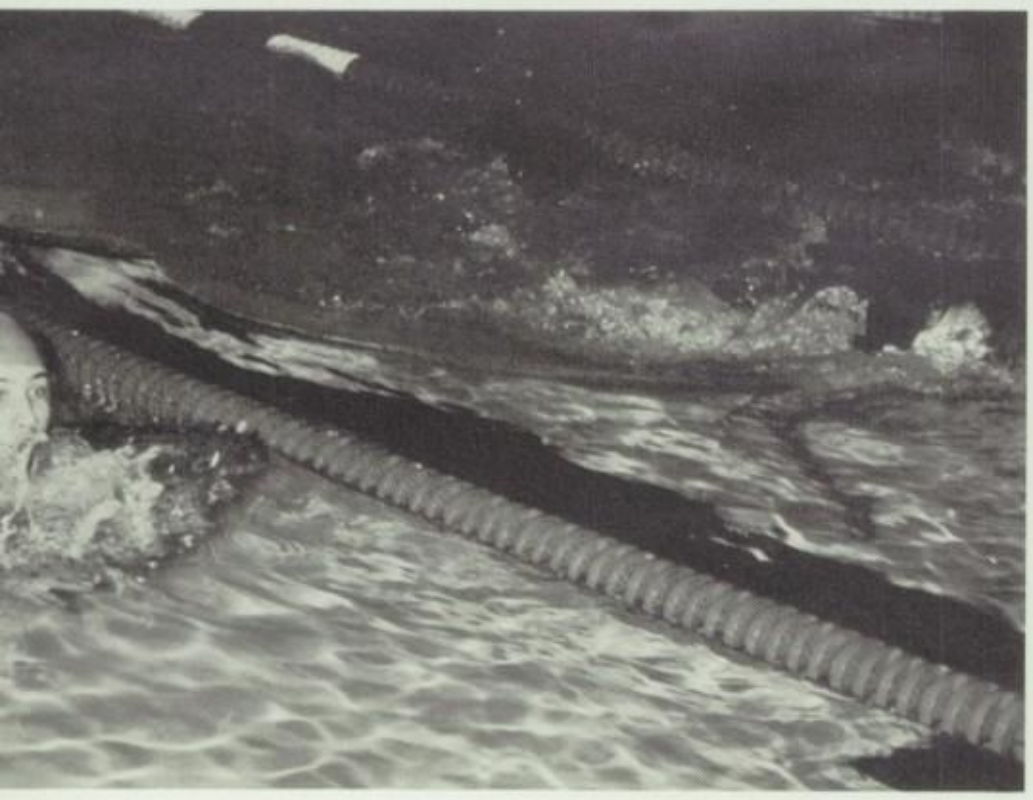
Dancing Dolphins

Each year the story is the same for the St. Viator Sealions; do or die. With their consistently high placings, both individually and as a team, it is taken for granted by almost everyone that the Sealions will once again blow past their competition in the Suburban Catholic Conference and attain their customary perch in the final state rankings. The 1975-76 edition of the Sealions led by co-captains Jon Newcomer and Steve King did just that.

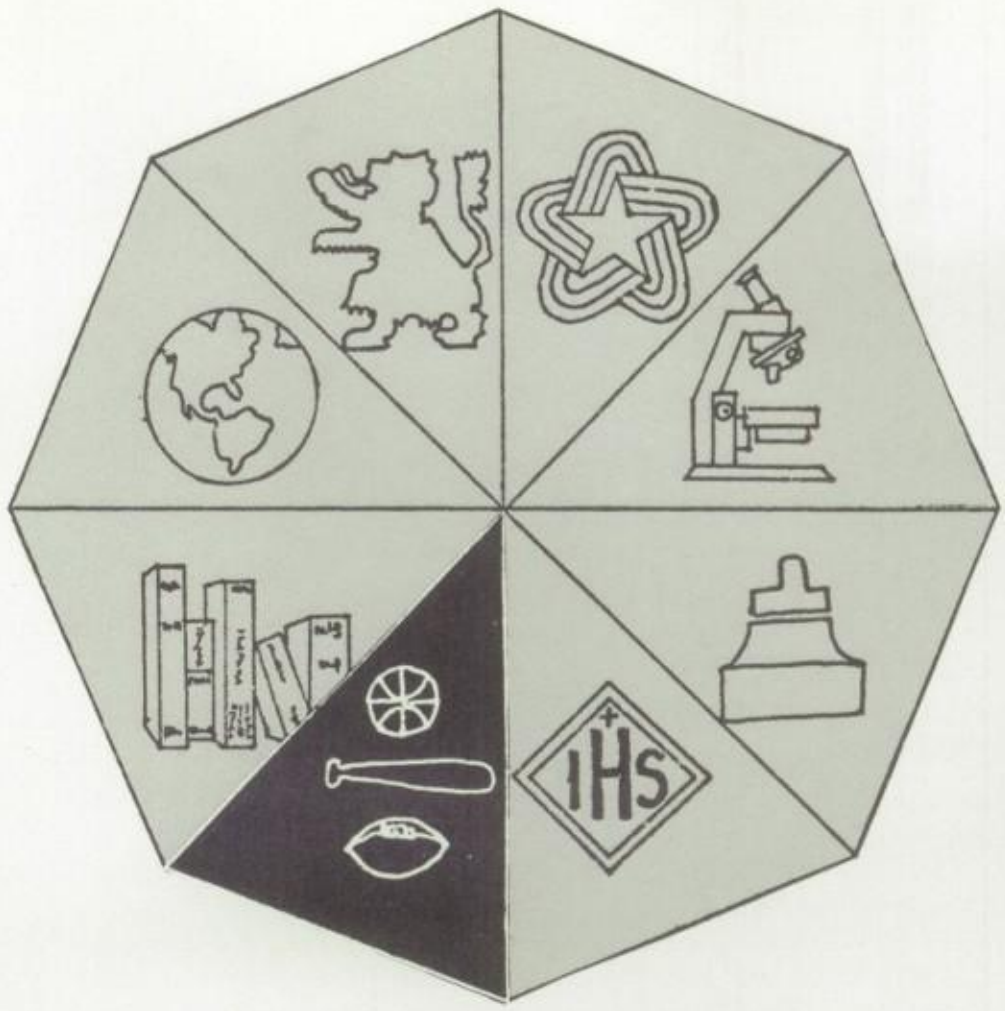
Opening their rigorous schedule with a victory over highly touted Arlington and a victory in the Deerfield Relays, the Sealions continued their winning ways throughout the season, showing their true potential with a solid performance in the tough New Trier West Invitational.







Follow the Bouncing Ball



Taking advantage of the enthusiasm that filled their home court, the Lions played the finest basketball St. Viator fans had seen in years. Although inconsistency plagued the squad at times, the Lions did away with their role as pushovers. Victories over Holy Cross and St. Pat's, and a heartbreaking, one point loss to State-ranked Marist proved to everyone that the Lions could shoot it out with the best around.

Arriving on the court before a loud and boisterous cheering section, a confident Lion team prepared to take on the underrated Main North Norsemen in regional competition. Jumping out to an early 7-0 lead in the first quarter, the Lions soon found out that their opposition had come to play basketball. And play they did as they destroyed the Lions eventually winning by a convincing 66-55.

Despite these setbacks a different type of basketball was seen on the hardwood this year. Winning, which in past years had been a rare sight, was now more frequent. With this winning, fan support grew and propects for the future looked even brighter than expected.

A Lucky "13"

Splashing their way towards the State Meet, a confident Sealion team swept past a tough Marmion squad in the Conference Meet. Standout performances by Steve Rogers in the Individual Medley and Mark Rohl in the Freestyle plus a host of other outstanding times made a high finish in State seem very likely. At the State Meet, a series of fine times allowed the Sealions to improve nine spots on their finish of one year ago.

Although it was a disappointment to some, the Sealions undoubtably experienced another fine season. With a strong core of returning swimmers and the dedicated guidance of coach John Fleck, many more triumphs are sure to find their way to Viator.

Pseudo-Jocks

The intramural program at St. Viator has for some time been a center of controversy and discussion. This year the program made significant steps towards improving itself and the entire outward appearance of the program has taken on a new look.

Under the new management of Mr. Ernie Buchanan, the reshuffling and reorganizing proved worthwhile as more and more students began to become involved in the I.M. program. Hopefully this most welcome change in the attitude of the I.M. directors has rubbed off on the students and they too will now become more active in this fine athletic department. It is about time someone did something to stir student involvement in extra-curricular activities.

I hope-

Our lives are built on hope.

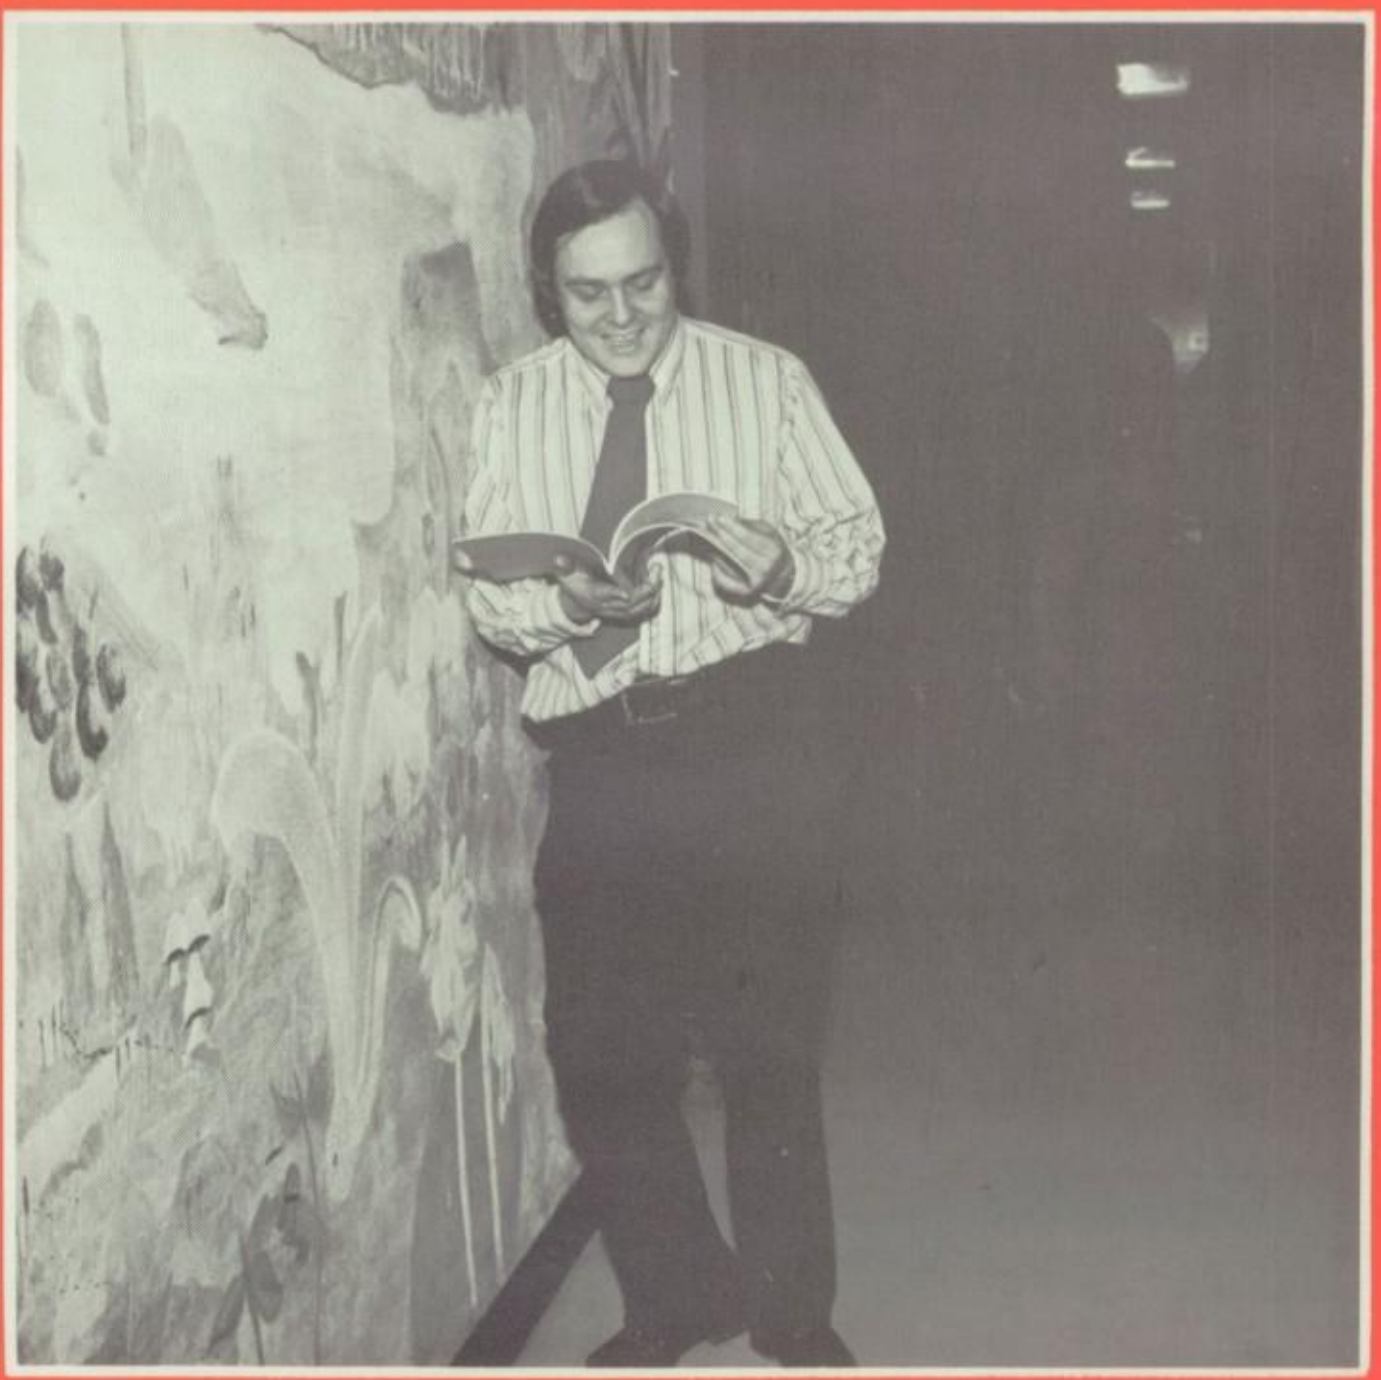
It is born into us- it stays forever.

Friends can leave and times can change

But hope will remain.

Without hope a story goes untold-

Our own.



Program Four

Four years ago it was realized that some students work best in a more open type of classroom environment. Program Four was created for this type of student. By working in small groups and by himself in independent study, the Program Four student completes a four year cycle of courses aimed at helping him increase both his knowledge and insight of the world he lives in. He also has the unique opportunity to create his own classes and learn the demands and responsibilities of teaching.

The wide range of courses offered in the program give him the chance to develop and enrich the talents and interests he may have. The Program Four student is also encouraged to participate in classes and seminars designed to make him more aware of the person he is and the role he has in our complicated society.

Four years ago it was said "There is no right way to learn." This idea lives on today in Program Four.

Little Drummer Boys

What makes up a great musical ensemble? You can take your pick of a million correct answers, but two of the biggest factors have to be talent and versatility. This is exactly what the Saint Viator Beginning and Jazz Bands showed a small but enthusiastic crowd at their annual Spring Concert. With a tasteful combination of both force and finesse, the Saint Viator Music Department gave a glimpse of the qualities that come after only months and months of hard work and practice.

Next year, with the introduction of a series of music classes for the whole school, the Saint Viator Jazz and Beginning Bands are sure to continue to grow, both in size and musical ability.

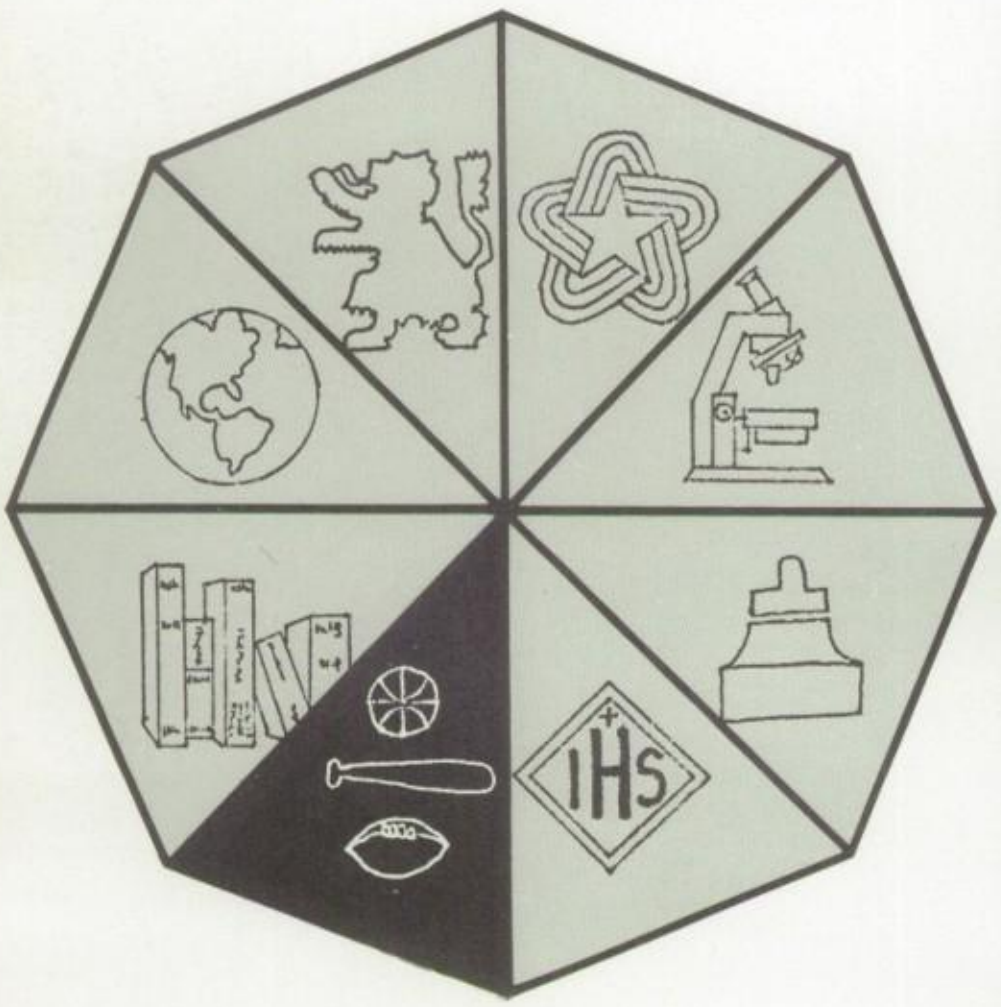
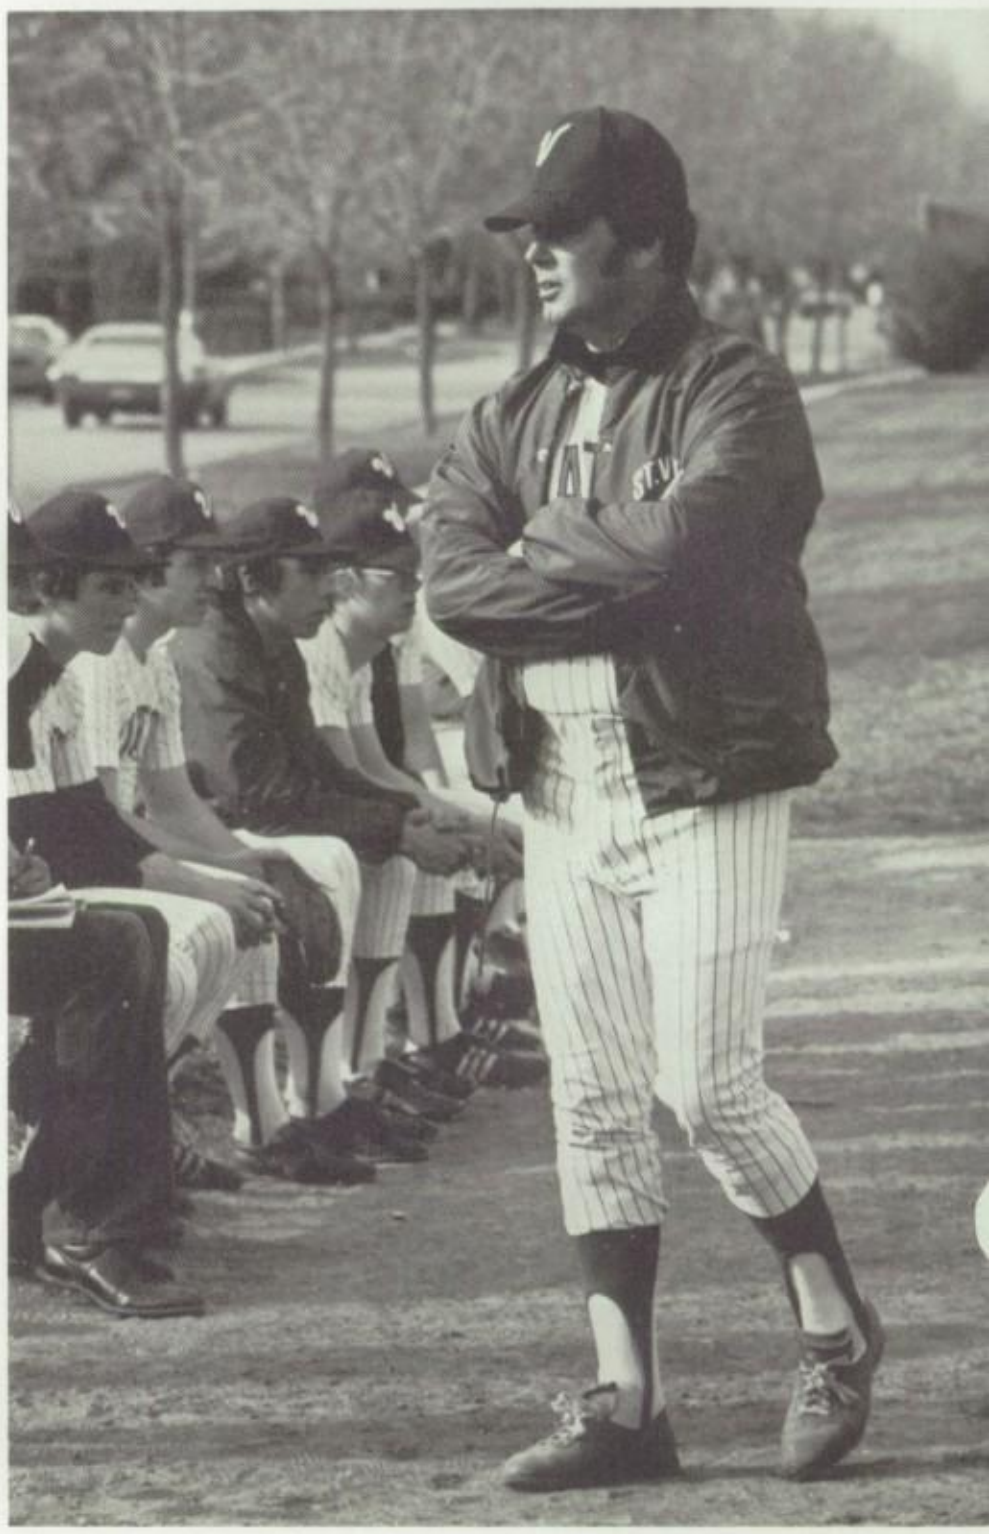
Ground Crew

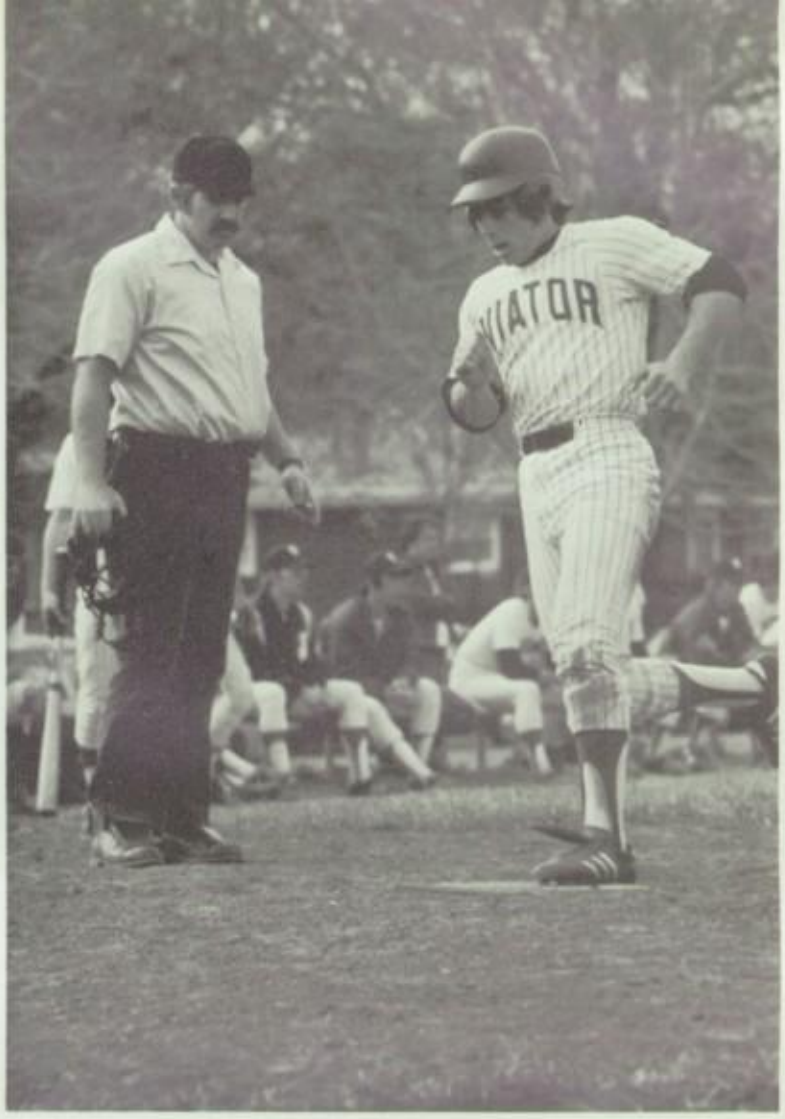
The old saying goes, "In the spring a young man's thoughts turn to love . . . and baseball." This is most certainly true at St. Viator just as it is everywhere else in this land of ours. Yes, the game of breaking balls and broken bats is the first harbinger of spring at St. Viator. Even though the back forty doesn't resemble anything close to the friendly confines of Wrigley Field, and still lacks anything close to an exploding scoreboard, the color and excitement of our national pastime still prevails on any given afternoon on St. Viator's diamond number one.

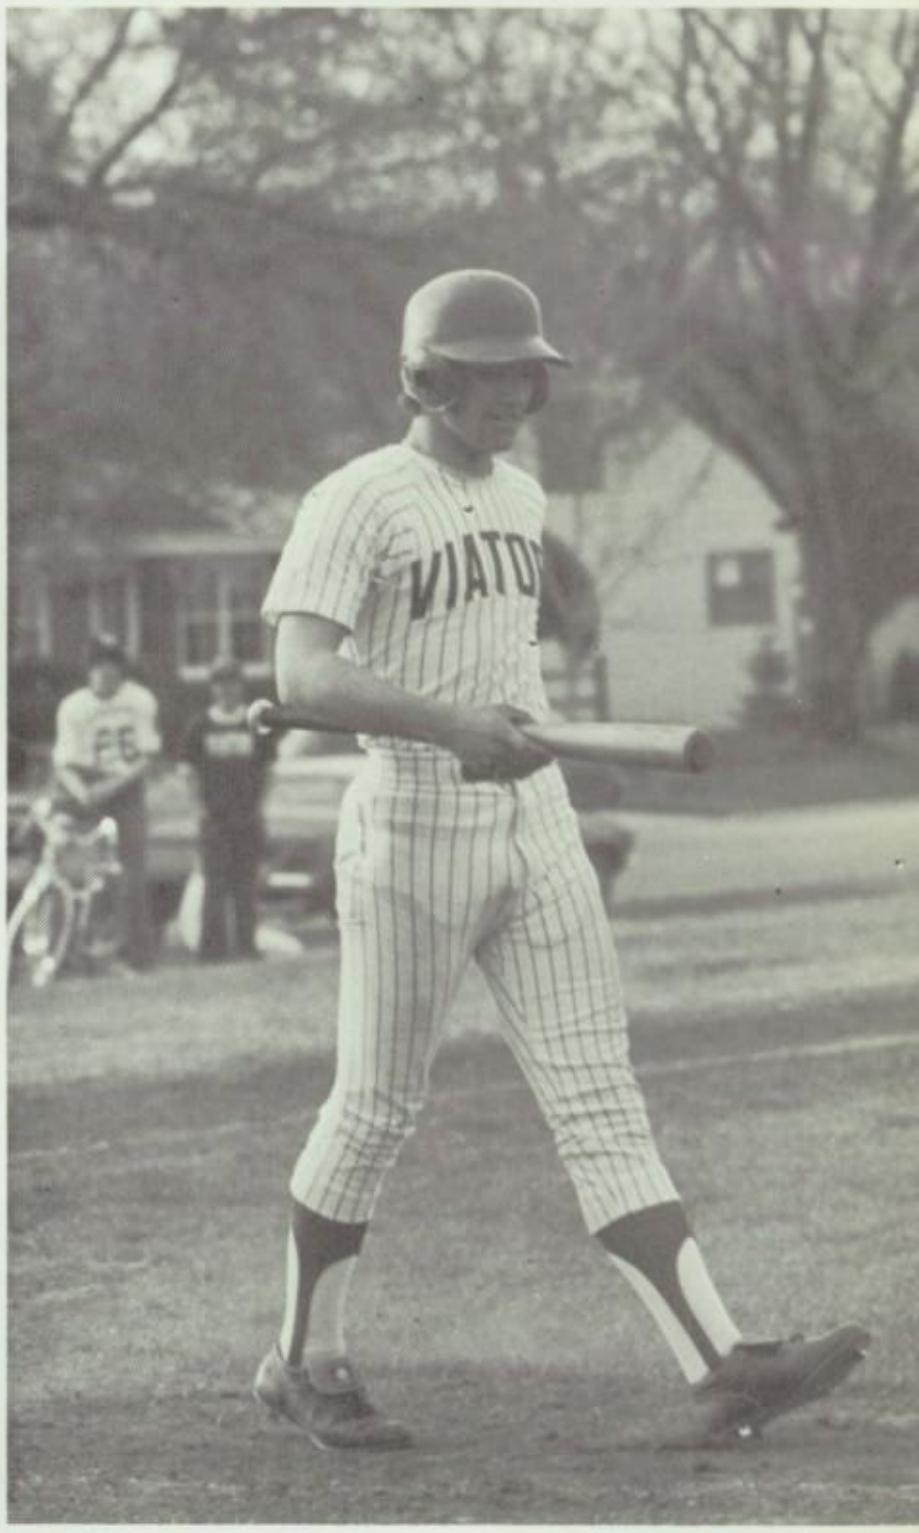
With the much needed cooperation of Ma Nature, Coach Pat Mahoney led a talented and hungry team into the 1976 baseball season. With a core of talented glovemen and a literal arsenal in batting power returning, the chances appeared good for a repeat of last year's conference championship. But as the season wore on it became obvious that a repeat was not to be.

This did not hinder the Lions from excelling on the individual basis. The efforts of Mike Hermanson, Mike Dooley, Kevin Mulroy, and Mark Bonuchi made the heartbreak of the season a little more bearable. With many returning juniors led by pitchers Jim Simmerman and Lou Citro it is obvious that the pride of the Lion baseball team will live on.









The Tale of the Tape

Track is exertion, be it for four seconds or four minutes a trackman puts out more energy then than most of us do a day. Over the entire season a runner battles all around him, the competition, the clock, the measuring tape, but most importantly he battles himself. The practices are long, the praise is small, but on the other side of that tape is ACCOMPLISHMENT.

What makes a trackman run? He KNOWS!

Dance With Me

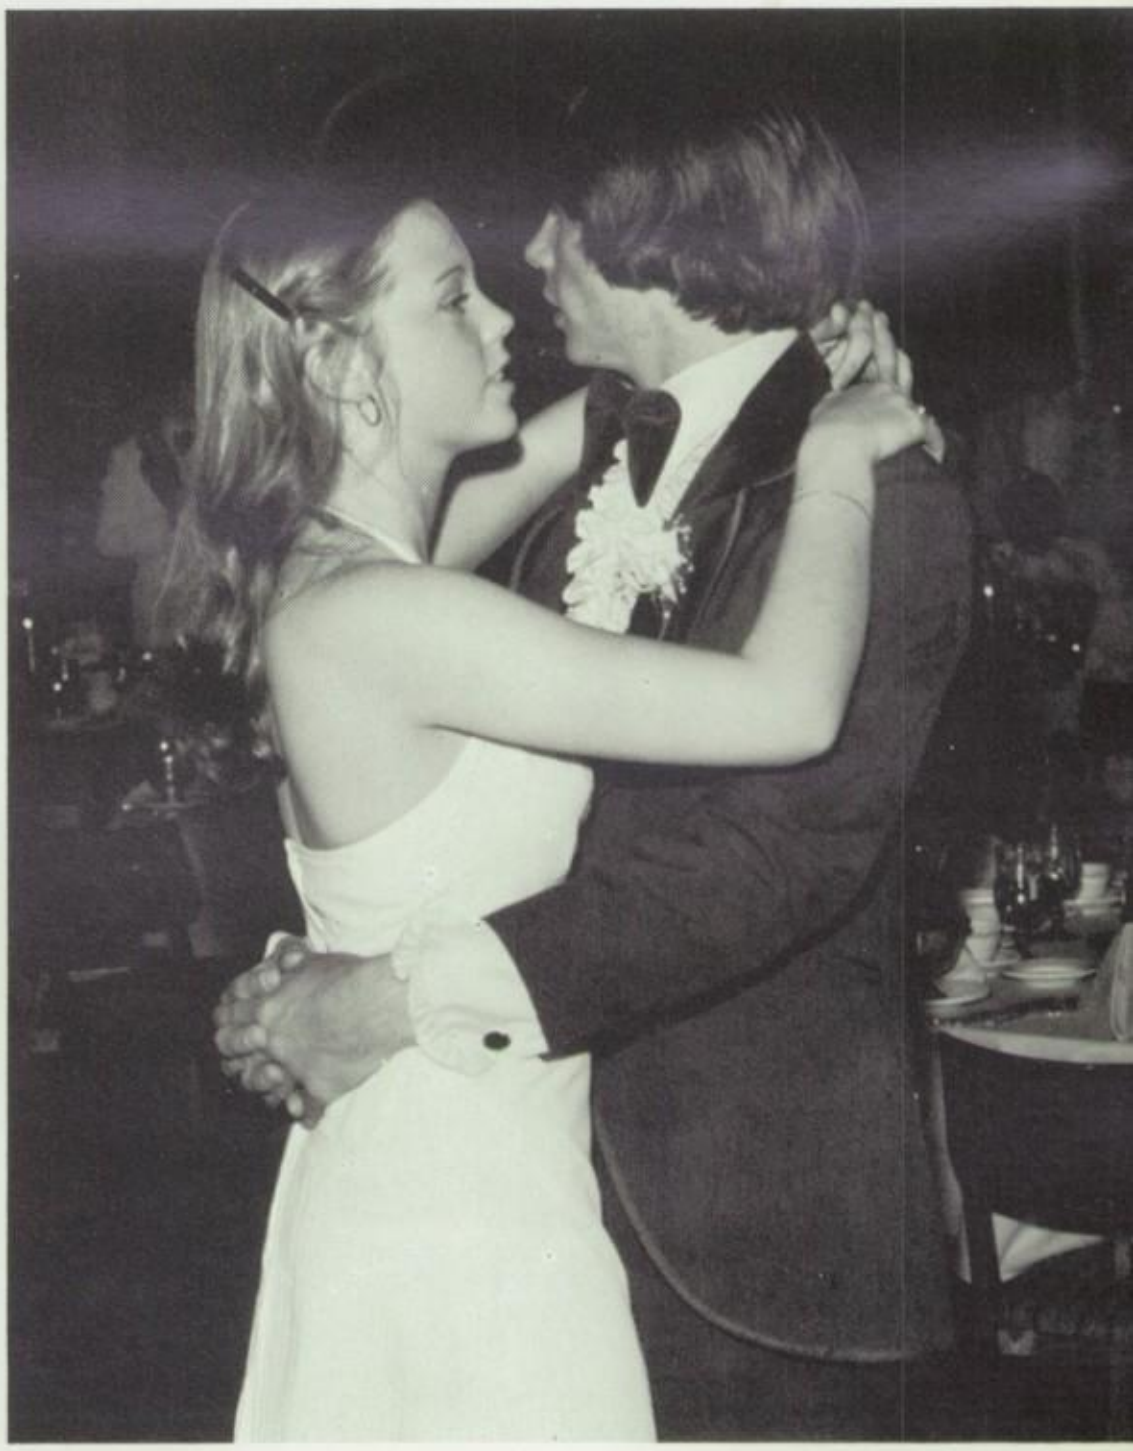
A senior prom cannot possibly be duplicated. Everything that goes into it, the planning, the running around, the pictures, the worrying, all make senior prom a once in a lifetime event.

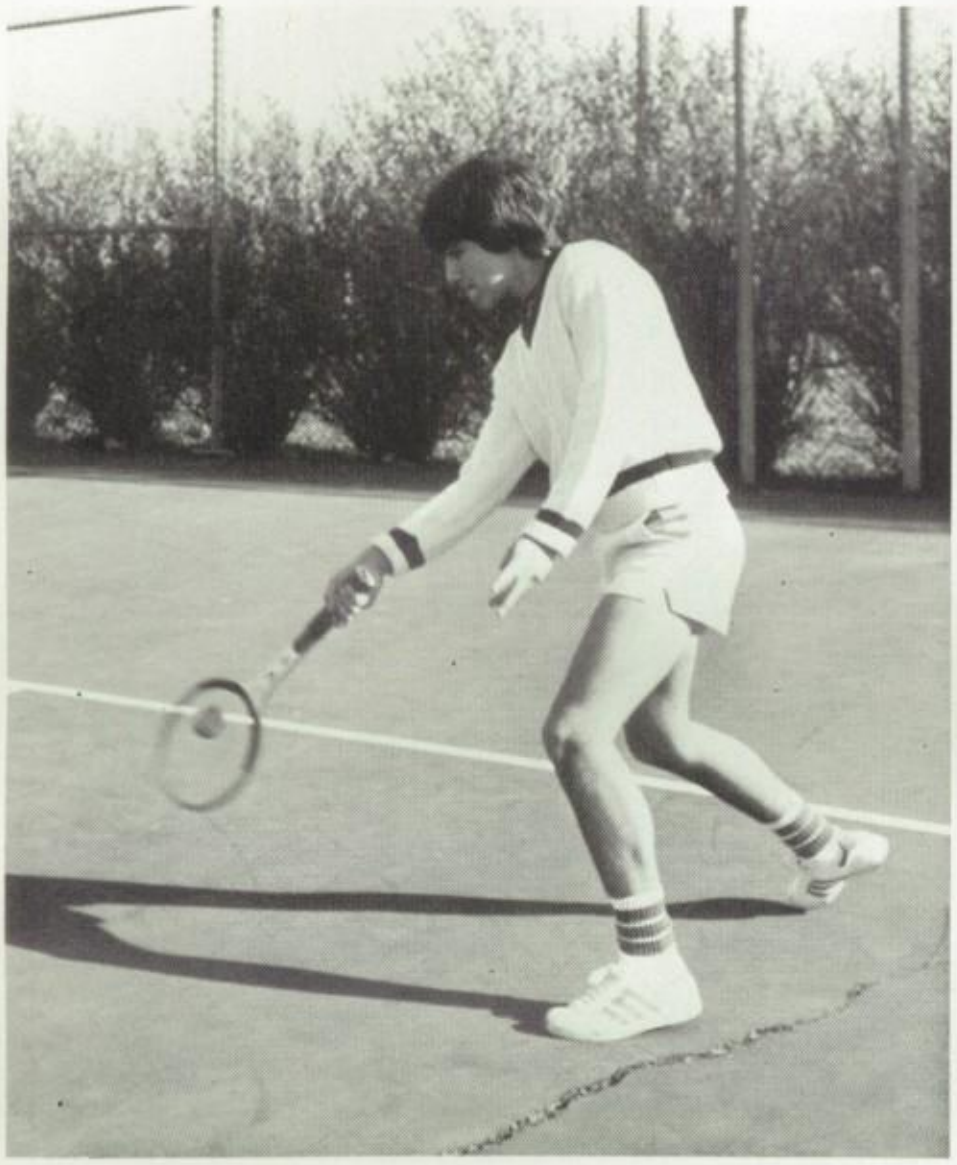
Four years of beating the books are over. The worries and cares of the rest of the world disintegrate to nothingness. The pressure is off, the party is on.

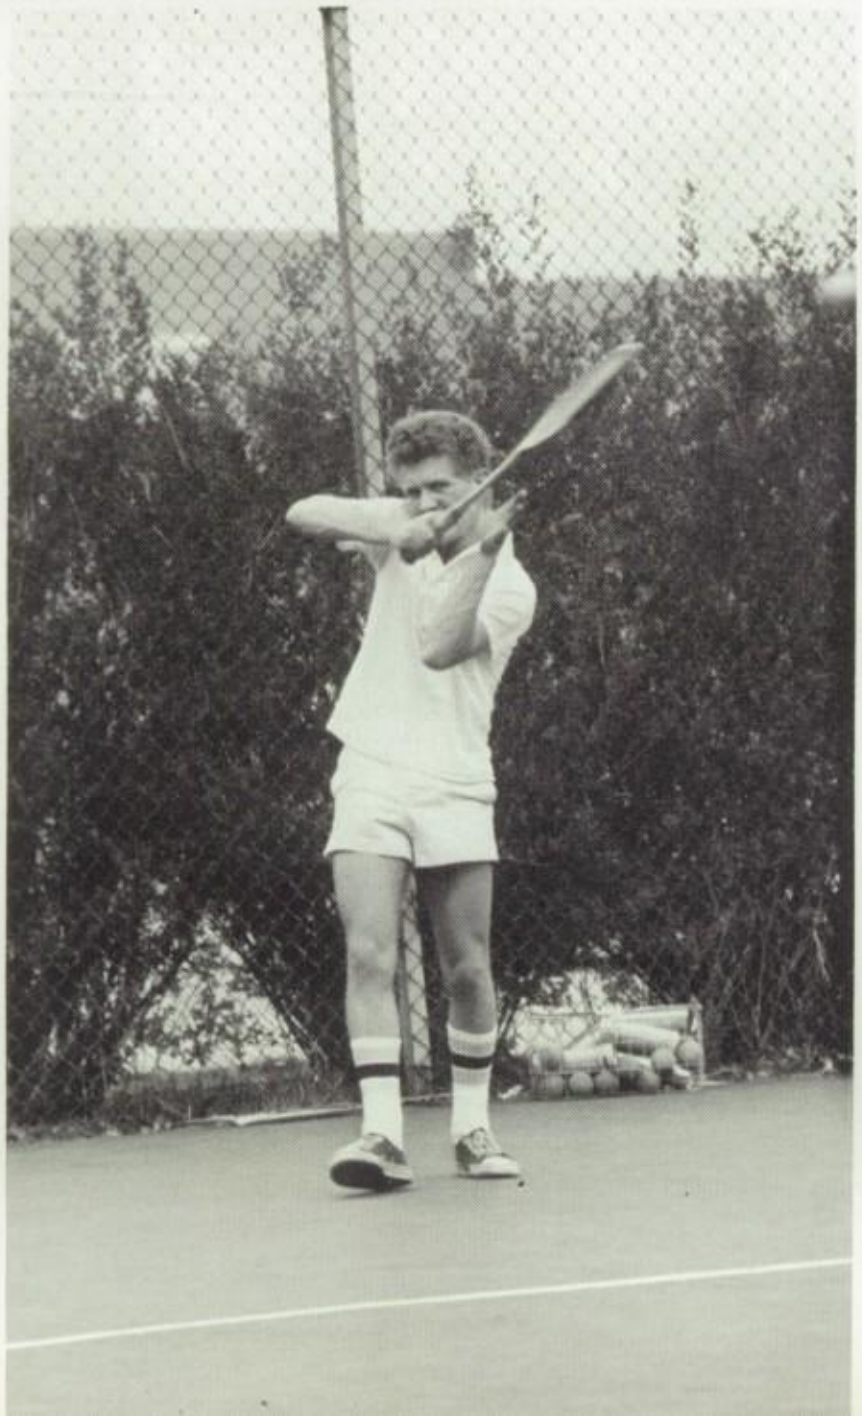
It Happens Every Spring

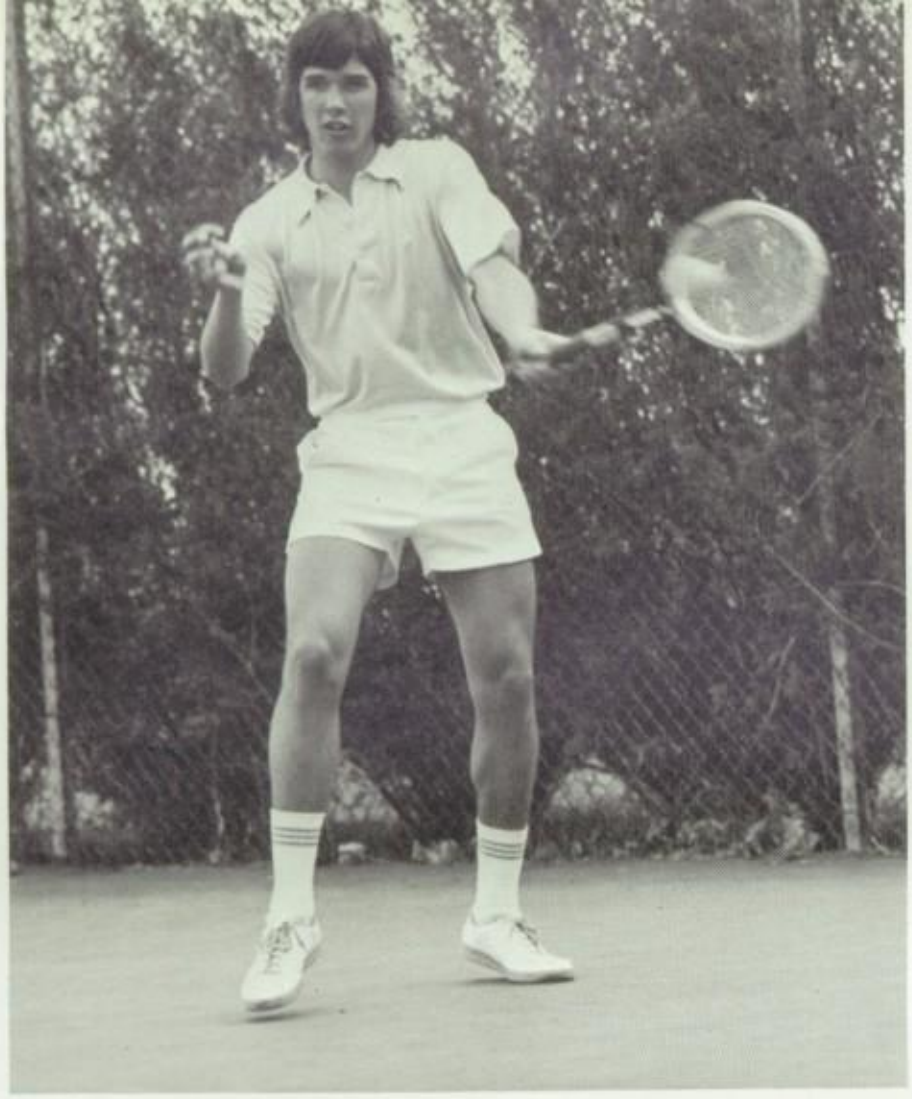
It hardly seems possible that four years could have slipped by so quickly, but they have. The day of Senior Prom seemed far off and distant, but when it arrived we wished it could have remained forever.

The educational process begins to draw to a close and the memories begin to fill up minds of everyone. Four years, how could they have passed so quickly? So quickly . . . So quickly . . .









Noisemakers

Serve . . . ground stroke . . . approach . . . volley . . . put away! The evolution of a tennis match. In recent years at St. Viator tennis has evolved from a little known, little respected sport into a conference challenger because the men who participate in the sport care enough to make it what it is . . . the fastest growing participant sport in the world.

This year's tennis team continued to hold the blue and white banner of Viator high as it continued to win when the chips were down. On clay, concrete, and composition the '76 Viator Tennis team "put away" their opponents in "luv-ly" fashion.

Some say people cannot work together. Perhaps this is true, but what if a group of men realize thay have the same goal, and instead of using each other to accomplish their own goals, they worked together? Could they not then merge their individual hearts to serve the common will? Furthermore, would not that merger produce a unity that would live on for succeeding generations?

All this is possible, and all this I have found at Saint Viator. Every person here realizes maturity is attained, not given. The people here work together. Their work is cumulative, and in each succeeding year, the unity of this school is stronger than before. This is the spirit of Saint Viator, a spirit not found at any other school. This spirit produces a dynasty of winners and, more importantly, a dynasty of sound Christian men.

Four years seems like a long time when one starts upon a high school career, but it soon proves too short for accomplishing all one sets out to do. As we go on to new careers, college or work for you, and the novitiate for me, I am supported by the fact that many of us have become a part, a fragment, of all we have met. And as our lives have become entwined for a brief moment in history, we cannot forget this contact, and it will always remain a part of us. Thus, Saint Viator High School has become a part of you and me, and we cannot escape it's influence. We are part of all that we have met, and an encounter with Saint Viator High School and it's community will be a lasting part of our lives.

It takes more than nineteen credits to make a man, it takes a complete education. Not just classes, not just football games, not just soc-hops or proms, but a total environment, both in and out of school, creating an independent individual able to survive in the changing world of tomorrow.

The majority of the class of 1976 entered Saint Viator as wide-eyed boys. Now, four years later, we are leaving Saint Viator as well-rounded young men. Viator has made us ready to face a world which guarantees no firm leadership, no security, no warmth, and no love. We can face it only because we have learned how to accept responsibility, how to create our own security, how to seek our own warmth, and most importantly, how to love.

None of us can deny that the opportunity for growth has not been here, all we had to do was open our minds and burn the midnight oil. Saint Viator has taught us much, so much that the full potential of what we have learned may not be seen by us for years to come. It will come though, and as men of a school well known for its excellence, we'll use that potential to become the leaders of a society in which some may not be able to cope.

Time has shown that we, as men of Viator, do accept the challenge, and the class of '76 will be no exception.

Being one of those that has spent four years at Viator and made it, I can only say that it was enjoyable and worth every cent. It is not much different than any other school except for one thing; the people. Viator people, all have a certain spirit that you cannot find in any other school. The spirit has changed a little with the institution of open campus, but the memories remain. Like the pep rally freshmen year, the football game at Marmion, the Hersey rivalry, year in and year out poor basketball teams, good swimming teams, and people with spirit. There are few things that can match the fear and anxiety that one feels before the first pep rally as a freshman, or feeling beyond it as a sophomore, above it as a junior, and in control of it as a senior. The teachers are good here, people like Brother Lentz, Senor Suarez, Pat Mahoney, Brother Barth, and Mrs. Breen.

Saint Viator is something that I will look back upon and laugh, or maybe cry. Thanks . . . for the memories.;M.L.M.

I believe the biggest change in this school has been the move towards student self-discipline and self-responsibility.

Although there have been failures and disappointments, I know the successes have far outnumbered the failures. I believe the young men graduating today are better able to deal with the real world because of the decision making—good or bad—that they were allowed at Saint Viator.

in mere words. I believe such great loyalty to

Although I have been associated with Viator since 1970, the last four years stand out in my mind as a period of challenge and growth. The most significant advantage brought about by the revamping of the school structure has been the increased attention given to individuals. The four programs, with their varying emphases and learning styles, the advisory group, the retreat program, the rejuvenated student government, and the alumni association are but a few of the innovative steps in the right direction of student-centered education. Given the adequacy of the academic and socail dimensions of the school, these steps are what make Viator unique. I trust that no senior could have floated through four years here without being attended to personally—whether by administrators, counselors, teachers, or fellow students.

I will never forget my days at Saint Viator. In the short time that I have been here, I have seen and experienced things that will have a great effect on the rest of my life. It is said that "all good things must come to an end," but Saint Viator will live on. Through it's student-teacher and student-student relationships, its wide variety of activities, and its atmosphere of learning, this school has helped me develop values, goals, and personality, but most of all it has given me pride.

It is difficult to escape the feeling that so much time has slipped by so fast. There still seems to be something more to say and something more to do. As Freshmen, you tolerated my chaos and confusion. Many of you seemed excited by the new programs and were eager to find new ways to reach old goals. As time has passed, I sense a tempering of the enthusiasm and a falling into the same old rut—a situation each of us has helped make in our own way. So now I wonder what the Class of '76, that came in the Vision of '72, is taking from Viator. Good times and bad times, academic successes and failures—part and parcel of high school life. But what of the lofty ideals that are the fiber of the Christian Community and of our School. You have read and researched, listened and discussed man and his world. You are witnesses to this less than perfect world of today. And now, more than the day you came, the burden of this world is for you: to accept life as it is, or to make life what it should be.

DESIDERATA

Go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence.
As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons.

Speak your truth quietly and clearly, and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they, too, have their story.

Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit.

If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter, for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself.

Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time.

Exercise caution in your business affairs, for the world is full of trickery.
But let this not blind you to what virtue there is;
many persons strive for high ideals;
and everywhere life is full of heroism.

Be yourself, especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love;
for the face of aridity and disenchantment
it is as perennial as the grass.

Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth.
Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune.
But do not distress yourself with imaginings.
Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness.

Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself.

You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars;
you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive him to be,
and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life, keep peace with your soul.

With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world.
Be careful. Strive to be happy.

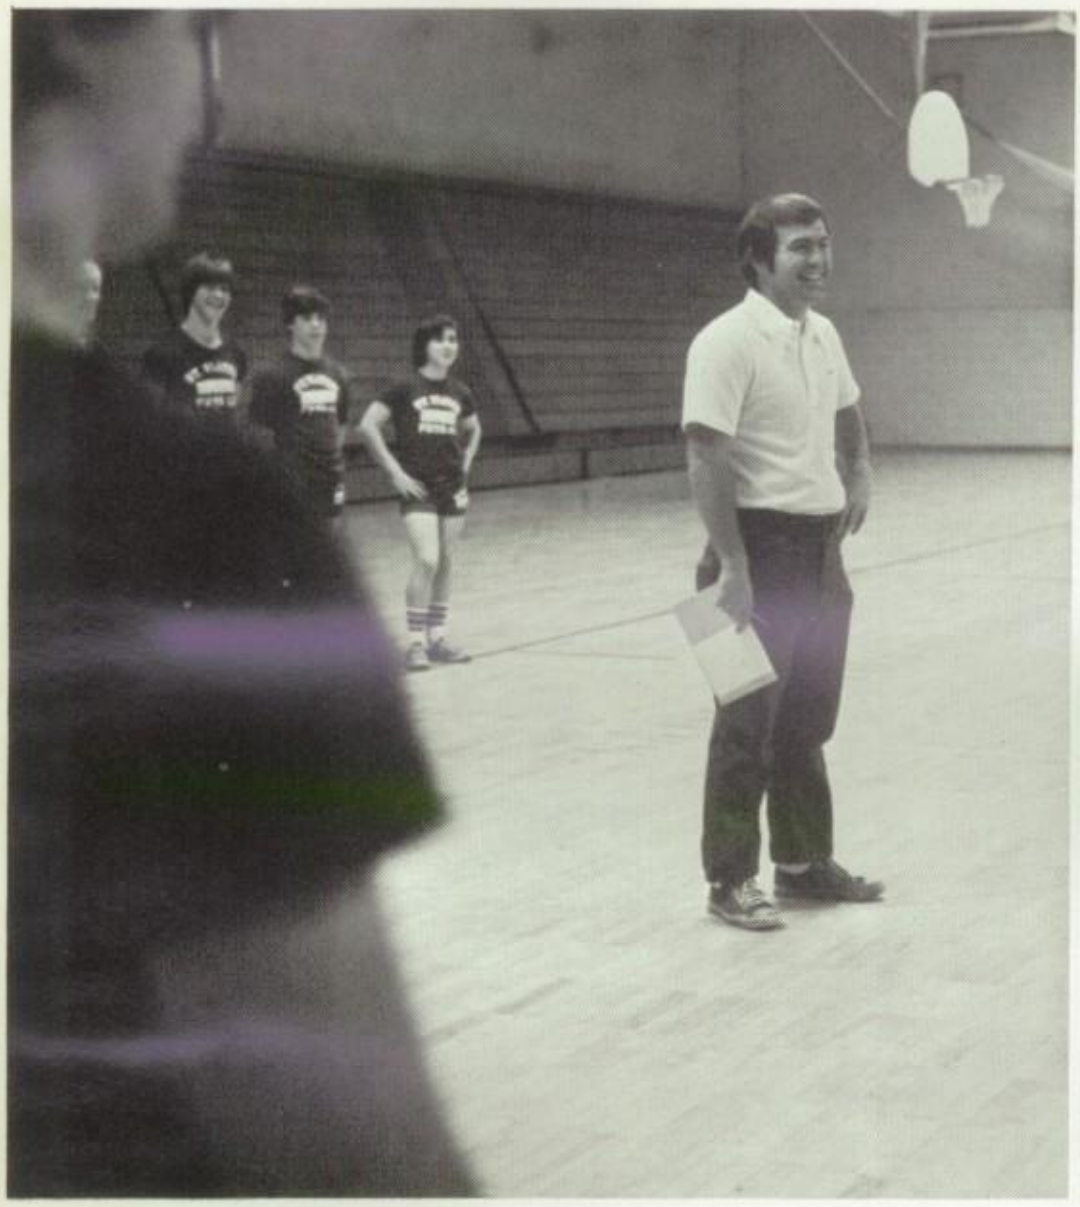
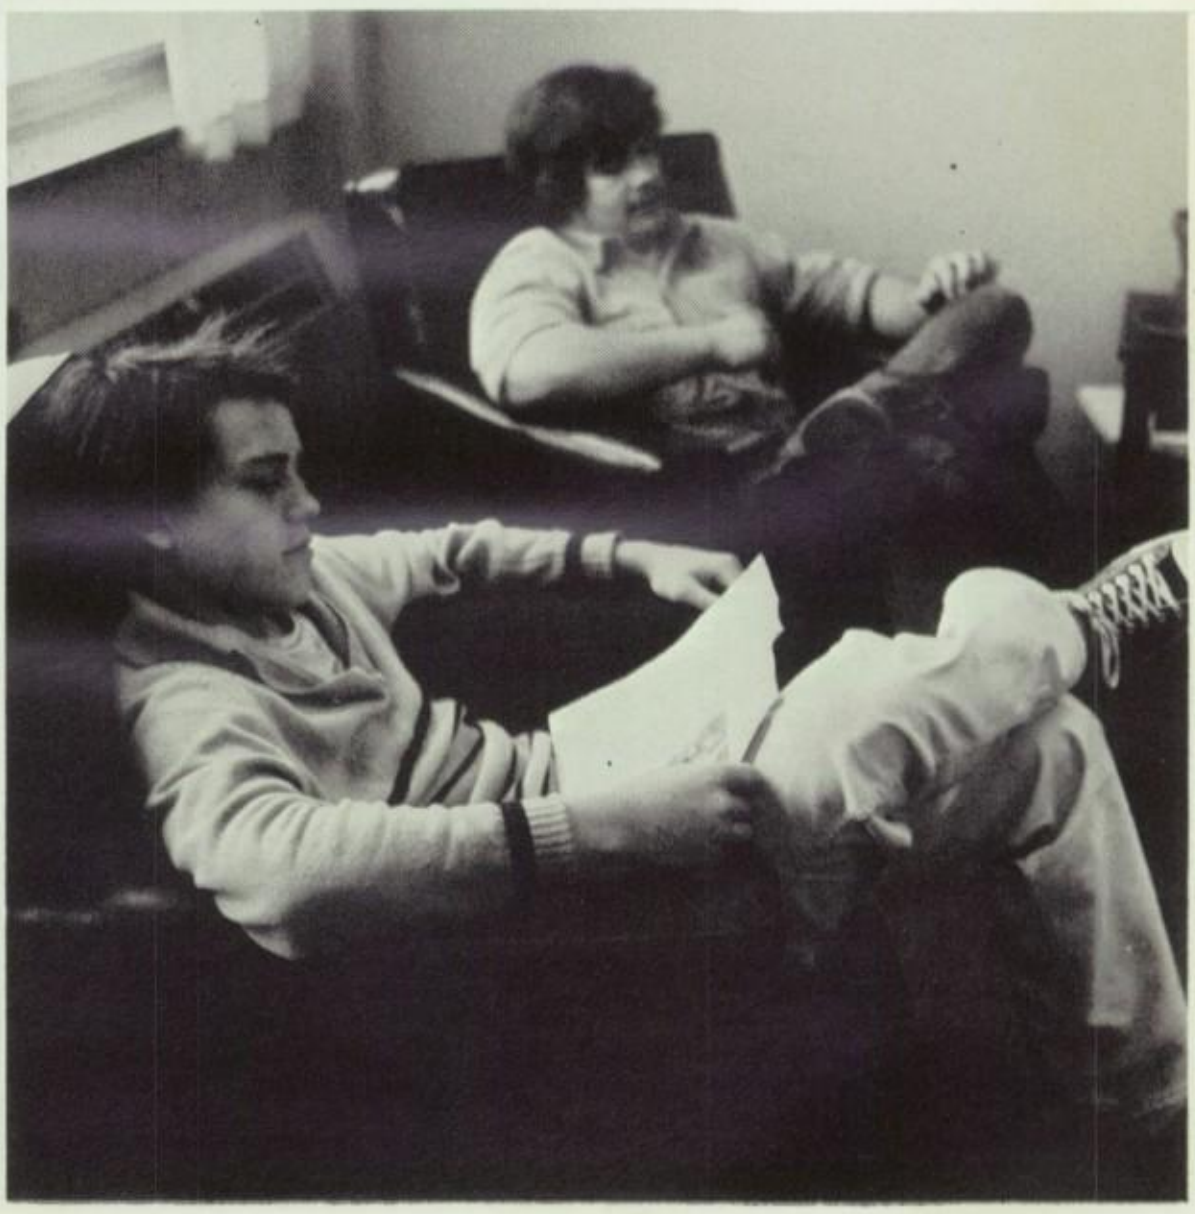
Will We Ever Pass



This Way Again?



Several months ago when this letter began to take shape, I heard a very meaningful and profound fragment of knowledge. It read, "The problem with human nature is that people are constantly looking for the green grass on the other side of the fence, yet they fail to stop and look at the roses that are in bloom today." Unfortunately this is all too true. We very often forget that there are roses in bloom now even though they may not be visible. We must, however, learn to live life for today and not only for tomorrow. Hopefully, St. Viator has at least taught us that, if nothing else. The mere experience of the last four years has had to have had some effect on all of us. The very fact that the program system has taken shape and is now working, is proof that there are roses in bloom today.

It is difficult to believe that there is a St. Viator student who has never noticed the roses in bloom. In other words, he has remained untouched by a member of the faculty or a fellow student. The generous contributions of the faculty surely should teach us that there is more to life than personal fame or notoriety. For some, the roses bloom when an alumnus gives a warm hello, another student smiles or our team wins. Whatever it is, the roses are blooming today and we are not just fighting for the tomorrow that may or may not come.

Whether we realize it or not, St. Viator has been instrumental in our personal development. It is responsible for our being able to say, as Alfred Lord Tennyson said, "I am a part of all I have met." When we can accept that fact, we will begin to see that there are in fact a number of roses in bloom right in our own back yard. When we see these roses in bloom, we will know that we are now able to love.

Jim
